A word of gratitude

This study on “Assessment of magnesium status in patients with diabetes mellitus and cardiovascular disorders” would have not been possible and completed without guidance and humble help from my teacher, mentor and guide respected Dr DVSS Ramavataram,( PhD ) Professor and Head, Department of Biochemistry, SMIMER.

The task of the excellent teacher is to stimulate “apparently ordinary” people to unusual effort. The tough task is not in identifying winners: it is in making winners out of ordinary people. And you have done exactly that, Sir!

Feeling gratitude and not expressing is like wrapping a present and not giving it. I would like to express my deep gratitude to Dr DVSS Ramavataram Sir for his dedication, perseverance and unstinted help and support. Dr DVSS Ramavataram encapsulates the lore of past and present experience on the subject. His message is so powerful that it is like a laser beam to my studies. His words are magical. I am privileged to have him as my guide. I owe my warmest thanks to a multifaceted teacher like him.

Sir, I whole heartedly thank you for believing in me, for teaching me with patience and understanding. How can I ever thank you enough, what you have given me will stay with me a lifetime. Thank you for sparing your precious time in spite of your extremely busy schedule. Thank you for the keen interest you took in this study and the masterly touch you imparted to it.

As you inspired others.....

You added meaning to my life too.....

Thanks for being great inspirer.......

Always.....

There are no words to express my sincere thanks to Dr. DVSS Ramavataram Sir however I convey my sincere thanks to him.

An expression of thanks

It is a great opportunity to express my humble thanks to our beloved and respected Dean Madam Dr. Kalpana A. Desai at this great moment of my academic career. Madam, you are simply amazing and a guiding force to all of us. Your positive attitude simply transmits to all of us and changes our outlook towards our working culture. Your concern regarding every faculty member starting from the junior most to senior most is seen to be believed. Being anesthetist by profession you have the attitude to take care of even minutest aspect as you believe that the role of anesthetist is as important as surgeon for a successful operative procedure and you have the outlook of thinking of best for the patients against all the odds. The gigantic steps this institute has taken after you have assumed the responsibility of Dean of this institute is clearly visible.

Again a big thank you to Madam

I express my sincere thanks to the Medical Superintendent Shri SMIMER Dr. Mrs. Vandanaben Desai for her generous permission to allow me to utilize the facilities of our esteemed hospital to carry out this work.

It gives me a great pleasure to acknowledge the support given by Dr Mahendra Chauhan, Dean of Medical Faculty, Veer Narmad South Gujarat University, Surat. Sir, we all appreciate your kind help and guidance. Dr. Mahendra Chauhan Sir is always eager to extend his help and support regarding any aspect of thesis work at the University level. He makes it a point to ensure that the requested help has reached me or not. He always tries to represent the issues of medical faculty at the university level with a positive attitude. Again I am thankful to him for whatever help he has extended to me.

It is a great pleasure to acknowledge the support, help, advice and guidance extended by Dr. S. K. Vajpayee, Ex Dean, Government Medical College, Surat.

I am thankful to Dr.Dharitri Parmar Madam, Professor and Head of Physiology, Government Medical College, Surat for her kind help and guidance

I put on record the acknowledgment of appreciation to Dr. Vipul Srivastav, Professor and Head Medicine Department SMIMER for giving me guidance for the ethical clearance of my study.

I am thankful to Dr.A.Gandotra Professor and Head, Anatomy for his moral support and guidance during my Ph.D work.

I acknowledge the support given by all faculty members, laboratory technicians and attendants of Biochemistry Department, SMIMER whom I convey big thanks and understand that they must have taken extra work on my behalf. They supported me whole heartedly and put sincere efforts to motivate me and provided ever ready help to make it possible to complete this task in time. I also extend my vote of thanks to the ICCU staff Medicine Department SMIMER for their timely help during my research studies.

I wish to express my appreciation to my associates and colleagues, who as experts, have offered constructive criticism and helpful suggestions. I acknowledge especially the contribution of Mr. S. D. Nilakhe, Assistant Professor, Biochemistry Department SMIMER for valuable support in department while at work and Dr. Kalpesh Nakarani for all the help and moral support.

I recognize the help and support given by Dr. Prakash Patel and acknowledge his hard work carried out for statistical analysis of data, which is really a hard nut to crush.

I acknowledge the support of Mr. Abdul Latif Chand of our college for taking pain for moving the relevant papers to University office and administrative support for carrying out my paperwork.

It is not possible to express in words the contribution and support given by my beloved husband Dr. Ramesh R. Surati MD (Medicine), MRCP whose moral support and love has always been a pillar of strength to me. I am proud to say that life is a journey and love is what makes that journey worthwhile. Thanks for showing me the path for upliftment and making me feel that I can do it.

I must feel sorry for my daughter Drishty who suffered a lot and remained unattended during my preparation of this manuscript. Her sincere love and smiling face helped to gather all strength and support to carry out this work smoothly.

I acknowledge a SPECIAL THANKS to Mrs. Priti Mehta, LL.M, computer programmer for helping me, her younger sister and doing all the work many a times. Some of the times I felt disturbed to carry out the work again and again before finalization, but it is she who always helped me out with a smiling face though she was busy with other assignments.

I acknowledge the moral support and encouragement given by my friend and colleague Dr. Dipti Choudhary who always supported me for converting my thoughts into best results.

Last but not the least I feel that nothing could have been possible and achieved without the cooperation of patients who were the subjects of my study, deserve many thanks. May Almighty God bless them all with a healthy life ahead.
