ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I take this opportunity to express my sincere appreciation and gratitude to my teacher and supervisor Dr. Brajesh Sawhney, Professor, Department of English, Kurukshetra University Kurukshetra with whose brainwave I was motivated to undertake this research project. His proficient guidance and adept supervision helped me to sustain all the hardships to explore and enabled me to complete this task successfully. I also thank Dr. (Mrs) Sunita Siroha, Chairperson, Department of English, Kurukshetra University Kurukshetra and Dr. Dinesh Kumar, Professor, Department of English, Kurukshetra University Kurukshetra.

I am also thankful to my parents, Major and Mrs. Ram Sarup; sisters, Mrs. Sushma Mehla and Dr. Asha Verma, Assistant Professor, Amity International University, Noida; jeejajis, Colonel Satyavir Mehla and Mahender Singh; Dr. Satinder Kumar Verma, Assistant Professor, S.D. (PG) College (Lahore), Ambala Cantt and my wife Neelam who always reminded me about the value of education in life. The face of my son Toshan always reminded me how innocent one is in childhood and how gradually discrimination sets in our life.

I also acknowledge my debt of gratitude to the British Council Library, Chandigarh; British Council Library, Kolkata; American Centre Library, New Delhi; Delhi University Library, New Delhi; Punjab University Library, Chandigarh; State Library, Chandigarh; Kurukshetra University Library and Punjabi University Library, Patiala. I also thank Deepak Verma, Verma Photostat and Computers Kurukshetra for typing the present thesis with personal affection.
