Acknowledgement

It is a great pleasure to acknowledge an enormous debt to Professor Muhammad Aslam, Head of the Department of English, University of Kashmir, who supervised the work on the thesis and provided an excellent research assistance. His careful and insightful comments were of inestimable value throughout the process of writing. My gratitude to him for the painstaking assistance and overall support cannot be measured. I acknowledge the generous help of Mr. Arshad Andrabi, Advocate, J&K High Court Srinagar, for providing the different legal documents, which helped me to find the best illustrations for exploring legal English. I was very fortunate to have had the family friends, Mr. Sheshi NiJohn and Mr. Sanjeev Kumar at New Delhi who helped me in bringing together a valuable collection of legal texts from different quarters. I would like to thank Mr. S. Sajad Salafi, who computerised the manuscript with accuracy and good humour. I also acknowledge an opportunity provided by U.G.C Fellowship for undertaking this project and I hope this study will encourage further debate in the linguistic community. Finally, I am especially grateful to my husband, Malik Iqbal, as in the light of his enormous obligations in his own career, his personal interest, enthusiasm and encouragement are more special to me. Our children, Urba and Anzar, have been growing up assuming that my working on this thesis is just a normal part of family life. They do not know how much they deserve my thanks.
