ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

This is a great pleasure of my life, when I am going to submit my Ph.D Thesis, I had got a dream in my life which is completed by me today. To fulfill this dream I am unable to find words of adequate beauty and meaning that could even fractionally express my deep sense of gratitude and genuine regard for my supervisor, Dr. Vinod Kumar, Reader, Post-Graduate department of Sociology, Meerut, for his complete cooperation, guidance and unbounded affection. Without able supervision, untiring guidance, inspiring attitude and constant encouragement this work would have remained an unfulfilled dream.

I find difficulty in properly expressing my sincere most thanks to Dr. Dharamvir Mahajan, Head, Post-graduate Department of Sociology, Nanak Chand Anglo Vedic College, Meerut, who has virtually been a special figure to me though his intellectual Endeavour, great mental vigor and constructive suggestions I could understand the greater aspects of this work.

I gratefully acknowledge Dr. Sangita Head, Department of Sociology, Meerut College, Meerut for expending me the necessary research facilities and to all the staff members and research scholars of the department.
