ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, with limitless humility, I would like to thank The Almighty who bestowed me with health and courage enough to complete this project.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to the Advisor, Dr. Rajiv Rai, Scientist 'T', Extension Division, Institute of Forest Productivity (IFP), Lalgarhwa, Ranchi, Jharkhand, for his keen interest and guidance rendered to me during the planning and execution of my Doctorate research work, whose untiring feeling ceaselessly encouraged me to complete this thesis.

I take this opportunity to gratefully acknowledge the contribution made by Professor S.M. Sulaiman Quli, University Professor-cum-Chief Scientist, Extension and Social Forestry, Faculty of Forestry, Birsanath Agricultural University, Kanke, Ranchi and co-advisor for the present study for suggesting the problem of research and for his sagacious guidance, painstaking efforts, appreciable suggestions, inspiring attitude and constructive criticism throughout the course of this investigation and preparation of manuscript.

It gives me ecstasy of delight in expressing my hearty gratitude to Shri A. K. Mishra, Addl. Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, Van Bhawan, Doranda, Ranchi, Jharkhand and Chairman of Research Advisory Committee (RAC) for his able guidance, encouragement in undergoing the research and preparation of manuscript.

I am grateful to other members of advisory committee Dr. R. P. Singh, Chairman, Deptt. of Agricultural Economics, Ranchi Agriculture College, B.A.U., Kanke, Ranchi, Dr. B. N. Jha, Asstt. Professor-cum-Junior Scientist, Deptt. of Agricultural Extension Education, Ranchi Agriculture College, B.A.U., Kanke, Ranchi, Sri Prakash Kumar, Jr. Scientist-cum- Asstt. Professor, Deptt. of Agricultural Statistics, Ranchi Agriculture College, B.A.U., Kanke,

1 Presently Scientist 'T', Extension Division, Tropical Forest Research Institute (TFRI), KFTRI, Jabalpur.
Ranchi and Shri. B.K. Mishra, Dy. C.T., Institute of Forest Productivity (IFP), Lalgutwa, Ranchi for their exemplary guidance and sustained interest and suggestions during the course of investigation and preparation of thesis. I am grateful to Dr. Sanjay Singh, Scientist 'D' and Mrs. Ruby Kujur, Scientist 'C' of Institute of Forest Productivity (IFP), Lalgutwa, Ranchi for their support and cooperation.

I express my sincere thanks to Dr. Praveen Kumar Singh, Forestry and Toddler Development Officer, Jharkhand Tribal Development Society (JTDS), Ranchi and Mr. Shamshad Alam, Integrator (Tasar), Professional Assistance for Development Action (PRADAN), Ranchi for their valuable suggestions, inspiration, cooperation and encouragement during research work.

I am deeply indebted to Professor T. P. Singh, Vice-Chancellor Sher-e-Kashmir University of Agricultural Sciences and Technology of Kashmir, Srinagar for giving me the permission with all required financial and logistic supports for pursuing higher studies and a platform for carrying out this research. I express my sincere thanks to Dr. M. Y. Zargar, Associate Dean, Faculty of Agriculture, Wadoora, Sopore, Dr. N. A. Masoodi, Dean, Faculty of Forestry, Shalimar, Srinagar and my colleagues Dr. T. H. Masoodi, Dr. S. A. Gangoo, Dr. R. Banyal, Dr. Islamuddin Sheikh and Dr. A. A. Saad for their support and cooperation. I am deeply indebted to the entire staff of organization for the help rendered in undertaking the research.

I am highly grateful to Director, Shri R. Das, Institute of Forest Productivity (IFP), Lalgutwa, Ranchi, for providing necessary facility and guidance.

I warmly acknowledge the various sources and publication from which valuable materials for this thesis were drawn.

I express my indebtedness to Gram pradhans, local leaders, Government officials and NGO workers of Korda, Jojoda,

---

2 Presently District Coordinator, JSLEPS-UNDP PROJECT, Department of Rural Development, Govt. of Jharkhand, Ranchi.
Hustrihatu, Banaburu, Nehalgara, Ghatabera, Hesapiri, Roredi and Kuchidih villages under Bundu block of Ranchi district in Jharkhand and other villagers who extended their cooperation in carrying out the research work.

I acknowledge the affectionate cooperation and helps of my teachers, classmates, seniors and juniors of Faculty of Forestry, B.A.U., Kanke, Ranchi and old friends.

I would remiss if I fail to express my sincere thanks to my wife Tabassum, son Shaaz and daughter Shariyah whose love, care and good wishes have been the supreme force behind all my humble achievements. I am thankful to younger brother Akhlaque and his wife Aafreen, sons Arsh and Ashhar for immense entrust, ungrudging help and affectionate behaviour and support.

I extend my heartfelt thanks to my father Late Maulana Imdad Hussain Quasimi whose creative instinct and perpetual affection inspired me to have higher ambition in life.

Last but not the least I express my deepest gratitude to my mother Alhaj Ummul Ejaz, maternal uncle Alhaj Maulana Taquiuddin and family members who left no stone unturned to support my work.

Lastly, I will close the acknowledgment with a sentence read several years ago: Nothing would ever be written if the author/researcher would wait to make his/her work perfect that no improvement could be made.

Dated: 10.04.2013
Place: Ranchi

Mohammad Ajaz-ul-Islam