ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The main object of the study is an inquiry into the NGO sector in terms of scientific management. It aims at being contributory in nature to the NGOs which have the zeal and dedication yet with their own limitations of methodology of implementation and measurement of results.

I would like to remain ever grateful to my philosopher and Guido, Dr. B.S. Nagarajan for the encouragement given to me at every step enduring this research process. His inspiration has transcended the limits of Supervisor - Scholar relationship and taught me what professionalism is in it.

Although it would be right on my part to mention by name the Vice-Ghancellor and the faculty Members of the Gandhigram Rural Institute - Deemed University, it is nothing but my humility which prevents me from doing so, who offered guidance and support in various forms from time to time. The Departments of Adult Continuing Education and Extension and Economics, in particular, have offered their valuable advice and suggestions for which I would like to express my utmost gratitude. I am proud to acknowledge that I am also one of the scholars of Gandhigram.
I have drawn much information from more than fifty five NGOs spread over the country. They were patient enough to provide the necessary inputs, in spite of being occupied with their own schedules. But for the practical experience and open sharing of my respondents, this research would not have been completed successfully.

My dear and near people like Mr. Thandeeswaran, Director of Cenicr for Social Service and Research, my mother Mrs. Gnanam and my wife Mrs. Nikila have stood by me in accomplishing this huge task. I am deeply indebted to them forever for their academic and non-academic support. My perpetual gratitude is to the Almighty for this exceptional Blessing.
