Acknowledgement

The present research work is the end product of that inspiration which I had received almost five years back from my teacher Professor Prabodh K. Shrivastava. Since then, his thoughtprovoking ideas and continued guidance at every stage of the present investigation not only helped me to understand the subject and the problem in a better way but also revived my interest in the subject for which I wish to convey my heartfelt gratitude to him.

I am also greatly indebted to Dr. Salil K. Basu, Professor and Head, Department of Population Genetics and Human Development, National Institute of Health and Family Welfare, New Delhi, for his time to time suggestions and kind help without which it would not have been possible for me to complete the task.

My sincere thanks are due to Dr. Anil Jindal, Dr. Goutam Khashtriya and all senior scientific staff of the Department of Population Genetics and Human Development, National Institute of Health and Family Welfare, New Delhi for their cooperation.

I am also grateful to Dr. Premanada Bharti, Dr. Bibha Karmakar (I.S.I, Calcutta), Mr. Sabuj Sen and Mr. Dipak Mukherjee (Narasighra Dutta College, Howrah) for their suggestions and comments.

I owe a lot to my colleague Dr. Ch. Satish Kumar for his help and encouragement at each stage of this investigation especially during computer analysis of the data.

I should like to take the opportunity to thank all my fellow scholars and colleagues Dr. M. Eunice, Miss Parvin Golabi, Miss Sumna Basu, Dr. Abdul Samad Khan, Mr. K. K. Mishra and Mr. Harsh Kumar Sharma for their constant encouragement.
I would like to convey my very special thanks to Mr. Kaustuv Kanti Bandyopadhyay (An. S.I., Calcutta), Mr. Arunabha Bhattacharya (A.I.R., Raipur), Dr. Shaymal Koley (Gurunanak Dev University, Amritsar), Dr. Pradyut Bhattacharya (IIFM, Bhopal), Miss Tultul Hazra and Mr. Subhara Sankha Barik (Deptt. of Anthropology, Dr. H.S. Gour University, Sagar), Miss Suprabha Samanta (An. S.I., Calcutta) and Miss Chaitali Paulchowdhury, for their help in many ways.

I wish to thank Mr. Jagdish Rawat who was ever prompt to typed the manuscript of the thesis.

Above all my gratitude is for all the subjects who co-operated and provided me with the data.

Inspiration from my parents and family members have been the driving force in the completion of the present work.

[Sainath Bandyopadhyay]

New Delhi.

(SAINATH BANDYOPADHYAY)