ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me greatest pleasure to thank all my well-wishers who have contributed in various capacities to this research. At the onset, I wish to extend my immense gratitude and respect to my Supervisor, Professor Sudesh Nangia, Centre For The Study Of Regional Development, School Of Social Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, for her constant help and meticulous guidance. All along, at various phases of my thesis, she has filled all my efforts with constant inspiration and support transcending well above the academic level.

I express deep gratitude to Prof. M.K Premi, Prof. Atiya Habeeb Kidwai, Prof. Aslam Mahmood and to all my teachers in CSRD, JNU who have provided constant encouragement to me during my tenure as a student in the centre.

I feel highly obliged to all my fellow colleagues specially to Sri. R. Gopa Kumar and Dr. R.S Rawat for their constant help and inspiration. I hope, my research work would provide some insight to my junior colleagues in CSRD, J.N.U.

I acknowledge my thanks to the Council Of Scientific And Industrial Research (CSIR) for providing me financial support through Junior and Senior Research fellowships. I thank all technical staff of CSRD as well as acknowledge their assistance and administrative support.

I owe my gratitude to Dr. Prithish Nag, Director, National Atlas And Thematic Mapping Organisation, Government of India, for his invaluable suggestions and help. At various stages of my field work in South 24 Parganas, I was immensely benefitted by Sri G.N Saha, Joint Director and Sri Manas Kumar Maity, Scientific Officer, NATMO. I express my regards to Dr.Sudhansu Shekhar Sharkar, Head Master, Rajat Jubilee High School, Sadhupur, which is the end point of human habitation of Sundarbans, due to whom my survey of interior Sundarbans was possible including the widow village, where nearly all men-folk have lost their lives due to tiger attacks.

In Sagar Island, a lot of help was provided by Sri. Ashutosh Jana, LIC agent, who introduced me to Kakdwip and Fraserganj; the caretaker of Youth Hostel, Gangasagar, the ground engineer, Beguakhali light house due to whom a panoramic view of Sagar was possible. My knowledge of severed islands like Khasimara, Ghoramara which face severe erosion was also possible due to them. Besides my deep appreciation goes to the local people all over the Delta for their co-operation and interest in the work.
During my field work, I received enormous assistance from different Gram Panchayats, Sub Divisional Officer, Diamond Harbour, gram sevikas, local leaders of Sonarpur and Rajarhat. In Mathurapur Sri Jimut Bahan Chowdhury (NATMO) provided me the guidance. Sri Gobindo Purkayasta, Ballygunj, P.O. Calcutta, also helped me during my stay in parts of the Stable Delta.

Further, I express my heartfelt thanks to Sri. Ashok Kumar Mitra, Research Assistant and Sri. M.M Maity, Scientific Officer, NATMO for their invaluable help and compilation of the base map, which was an assignment by itself. My thanks goes to Ms. Shish Kaur, S.S.S. JNU, and to Sri Kanai Mandal for data analysis through computers and preparation of my first draft. Mr. Praveen Sachdev has laboured hard in the typing the final draft of my thesis.

I owe my endless debt to my father, Dr. R.K Banerjee, Retd. Joint Director of NATMO, Government of India, whose tremendous contribution to the art of map making, aerial photographs, Earth Science and Geography has constantly provided colour to the background of my work. My introduction to NATMO on which I had banked as a resource base was due to him.

I extend my heartfelt appreciation to my husband Shri. Jay Prakash for his spontaneous support to my research work. I acknowledge all the sacrifices undergone by my family members during my involvement with my work only. The inspiration provided by little Twisha, my daughter, acted as a catalyst for my efforts.

This study is the outcome of all the ardent efforts of my mother, Late. Maya Banerjee, Professor and Head of Department of Geography, Lady Brabourne College, Calcutta. Her dream of my undergoing the whole assignment successfully was shattered suddenly by her untimely demise during the final stage of my thesis. Her constant flavour of the subject, love, inspiration, guidance and sacrifice has blossomed in my text. Her shower of blessings and touch live within me as an inseparable part of my life. With tearful eyes, I dedicate this draft in her loving memory.
