Acknowledgements

It would not have been possible to write this doctoral thesis without the help and support of the kind people around me, to only some of whom it is possible to give particular mention here.

I want to start expressing a sincere acknowledgement to Lord Swami Narayan, H. D. H. Pramukh Swami Maharaj, Pujya Mahant Swami, Pujya Dr. Swami, Pujya Shadbhujivan Swami and Pujya Santo for giving me blessing and providing good friends.

I want to sincere acknowledgement to my advisor Dr. K. N. Patel, because he gave me the opportunity to research under his guidance and supervision. I received motivation, encouragement and support from him during all my studies. With him, I have learned writing and presenting the papers for conferences as well as for publications and sharing my ideas to the public.

I wish to express my warm and sincere thanks to Dr. Basudeb Bakshi (Principal) and Dr. V. D. Bhatt (Heads of the Department of Chemical science) of NVPAS for giving permission for laboratory facility. I am thankful to Dr. Akshaya Gupte Heads, Department of Microbiology, and his research team for helping in antimicrobial activity in my work. I am thankful to Dr. M. N. Patel (profesor, Department of chemistry) for helping in my research work. I thank to SICART for giving analytical facility to my work. I thank to Department of Education, UT of Dadra and Nagar Haveli for giving permeation for my study.

I want to Hartley thank to Dr. Sanjay Patel for the example, motivation, inspiration and support in all direction of my research work & spending most valuable time for me till today. I also want to thank to Dr. Jigar Patel sir and Panchalsir for inspiration and supporting.

I am thankful to my colleagues Sandip Patel, Ram and special thanks to Kuldip Gohil. I would thankful teaching staff ofdepartment of chemical science (NVPAS) and non teaching staff (In Chemistry store Sudhirbhai, Nileshbhai, Jaydipbhai and peons like Nagjibhai, Kamleshbhai, Pramodbhai and Pravinbhai).

Last but not the least; I would like to special thank my wife Sonal for her personal support, giving priority to my study she adjust and compromise with her feeling and desire. I would like to thank my son Adarsh to encourage me all time. My sister Jyotiben and brother Virendrasinh have given me their unequivocal support throughout.

I can’t express my gratitude for my father Jayantilal and mother Kanchanben giving me to see high aim and inspire to how fulfill this aim with their experience end encourage me with unconditional love, which has been my greatest strength.

Yogendrasinh J. Thakor