ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

It would not have been possible to write this doctoral thesis without the help and support of the kind people around me, to only some of whom it is possible to give particular mention here.

In any case, I am indebted to many people for making the time working on my Ph.D. an unforgettable experience.

First of all, I am deeply grateful to my research guide Dr. A. S. Reddy. You have been a steady influence throughout my Ph.D. career; you have oriented and supported me with promptness and care, and have always been patient and encouraging in times of new ideas and difficulties; you have listened to my ideas and discussions with you frequently led to key insights. Your ability to select and to approach compelling research problems, your high scientific standards, and your hard work set an example. I admire your ability to balance research interests and personal pursuits.

I would like to thank Vice chancellor and present Head of Department of Bioscience, Dr. Harish Padh for allowing me to work by utilizing the facilities of department.

I convey my reliable thank to Dr. J. S. S. Mohan, Dr. K. S. Rao and all my teachers of this department, for their advice and encouragement during my work. I admire the cooperation extended by other teaching and non-teaching staff of the Bioscience Department.
One person who has always been ready to help me was Shri. Jayendrabhai Chauhan, Herbarium Keeper, of the University Herbarium. He took care of all herbarium works. Thank you Jayendrabhai for all your support!

I wish to offer my thanks in particular to my college teachers Mr. B. G. Patel and Dr. J. P. Patel who generated botanical interest in my academic carrier.

I express my sincere thanks to University Grants Commission for giving me an opportunity to work as a Project fellow and by that providing financial assistance and all requisite facilities during my field explorations and data collection.

Thank are due to the officials of the Gujarat Forest Department for providing the necessary information, constant support in exploration and providing staying facilities.

I find no words to express my sincere feelings towards local inhabitants who had provided valuable information during the field trips.

I heartily thank my beloved seniors Dr. Kalpesh Ishnava, Dr. Kalpesh Anjaria and Dr. Purvesh Bharwad for their constant support and help during my research work.

I would like to thank my lab mates Ali Ahmed, Rita, Dhananjay and Nainika who boosted me with their pleasant smile while entering the laboratory.
I gratefully acknowledge of my loving friends Vinay and Shaktibhabhi for valuable help during the first stage of investigation and to help me a lot in many ways.

As for individuals, I shall mention Arvindkaka (Dumalav, Valsad) for giving lot of information about climbing plants and providing assistance in collections. I am indebted to Ahtakaka (Rohina, Valsad), for helping me in finding some rare plants in different forests.

A big contribution and hard work of my closest friends Chetan, Amit, Bhavin and Bhavesh during field work is very indeed, always helped me in my sample collection and supports me in every troublesome situation.

I wish to acknowledge with deep sense of gratitude, to my Ph.D. colleague Jigisha Vaghela for her constant support and helping me to prepare scientific illustrations.

There aren’t words to express my gratitude to my loving friends Avni and Binaka. I am most grateful to them for help in typing, preparation of photographic plates and being on my side during the preparation of thesis. I could not possibly have gotten through some of the rougher times of the past one year without their constant care and support. Both of you are irreplaceable.

I take this opportunity to thank Minal Jani and Sujit for their extreme support to me and whenever to that I faced troubleshoot the problems during my research. Also give me the valuable hints and for all the intense care and support that they have given to me.

I owe my heartiest regards to dear Vibhisha, a true example of a nice person whose positive attitude and affirmativeness towards work inspired me to understand the failure, and step to the ladder of success. Special thanks to her for always taking extreme care of our daughter Rahi and entire family in my absence and help me completing the thesis successfully. Thank you for your support when I have needed it the most. Thank you with all my heart!

Last, but by no means least, my sincere thank to my beloved father, mother & Nilam, Tarun and all my family members love and who have been the impetus for me to prove myself at work. I am forever grateful to my grandparents, whose foresight and values paved the way for a privileged education, and to my parents who gently offer counsel and unconditional support at each turn of the road.
