

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wanted to pursue my doctoral studies so that I could learn something that can expand my knowledge and enhance my ability to do critical thinking. When I am on the verge of completion of my work, I am in a position to say that my objectives are fulfilled. The study has immensely helped me in developing my thought processes. I am grateful to all those who have contributed directly or indirectly to the study and my progress.

I express my sincere and heartfelt gratitude to Dr. D.G. Thakore for providing supervision of my thesis and helped me draw the road map to complete this study. The thesis would not have completed without his invaluable guidance, valuable insights, critical comments and important inputs at crucial stage of thesis.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to our head of the department, Prof. Kiran Pandya for being the best mentor I could ever have during the years of my education. I highly appreciate what I have learned from him. I am grateful to him for all the support and guidance both in professional development and personal growth.

I am grateful to Dr. Smruti Bulsari for her valuable help. She took efforts in reading and providing me with valuable suggestions on chapters of my thesis that helped me in my work. She deserves special appreciation for the excellent help of improving the quality of presentation of my thesis. She showed excellent command and complete understanding of the subject and helped me in all possible ways. Her knowledge of research, quantitative analysis and statistical packages is admirable.

I express my gratitude to Bapuji, Mr. Gafurbhai Bilakhia, and Bilakhia family for their inspiration and moral support. The development atmosphere prevailing at the group companies helped me in taking up this study. I am grateful to Mr. Ashwani Bhardwaj, Managing Director of Micro Inks for allowing me to undertake this study while working with the organization.

I am also grateful to Dr. Gaurang Rami, Dr. Jayesh Desai and Mr. Rishi Dave, who helped me with analysis of data for the research.

I express my sincere thanks to Mr. Hemchandra Panjekar, Group-Head-Human Capital and Administration, Bilakhia Group for providing his help in collection of data for the study. I also thank the Unit Heads and the Human Resources Heads of all the sample organizations for giving permission to conduct study in their organizations. I cannot forget my respondents, without whose valuable response, this study would not have been possible.

I express my gratitude to faculty members of Human Resources development Department. Thanks are due to Ms. Manjula, Librarian of department of HRD for giving all facilities for referencing, reading and photocopying. Helps extended by Mr. Siba and Mr. Kishore, office assistants department of HRD are admirable. They always showed their readiness to work even till late hours in the department. I am grateful to the department for the support it has extended throughout my study. The department has not only supported by the books and references but also provided related services.

Feelings cannot be conveyed through words for the family members of Pandya Sir and I have no words to convey my feelings for Baa, Archanaben, Prita and Lekha for their support and wonderful hospitality that was received whenever I visited them.

During my dissertation I have received assistance and encouragement from a large number of people who gave their time and valuable resources. I acknowledge their help with profound thanks.

I must also thank my family members for the encouragement and support provided during the study. My wife Maneesha, who stood by me during all the difficulties, son Arya for his encouragement and follow-up; and daughter Mugdha for her love and support.
