ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

There are several people whom I must thank for their help and support during the course of this study. First and foremost, my sincere thanks and appreciation are due to Professor Parimal Kumar Das, who supervised this work. His constant guidance, incisive suggestions and detailed discussions on the subject have been extremely valid. I also acknowledge the encouragement and support which I received from Mrs. Kusum Das. I would like to express my gratitude to the teachers of the Division of Southeast Asian and Southwest Pacific Studies - Professor Baladas Ghosal, Dr. B.D. Arora, Dr. Ganganath Jha and Dr. Manmohini Kaul have constantly encouraged me in this endeavour. Special thanks are also due to Dr. G.V.C. Naidu of the Institute of Defence Studies and Analysis (IDSA) for his help.

I would like to thank Professor R.R.Krishnan, Professor K.V. Kesavan, Professor R. Narayanan for their encouragement. A very special note of gratitude goes to Mrs. Sridevi Narayanan, my music teacher, who provided the much needed diversion and leisure during a difficult period.
My collection of data would have been extremely difficult had it not been for the assistance of the Librarian and staff of the JNU Library, IDSA Library, Nehru Memorial Library, Sapru House Library, American Centre Library, Parliament Library and the United Nations Information Centre.

During the course of my field trip, I had the privilege of interacting with several academics, media persons, officials and politicians who were extremely cooperative and showed a keen willingness to discuss the subject at length. At the National University of Singapore special thanks are due to Professor Lau Tek Soon, Dr. Kripa Sreedharan, Dr. Ishtiaq Hossain and Dr. Bilveer Singh and the other staff at the Department of Political Science. I also wish to express my appreciation to Professor Tim Huxley (University of Hull) who took a great deal of time off from his tight schedule, to discuss the work and various issues related to it. At the Institute of Southeast Asian Studies (ISEAS), a note of gratitude must be expressed to Russel Heng, without whose assistance I would not have been able to procure much of the material used in this research. My sincere thanks are also due to the Librarian and staff at the Central Library (NUS) and the ISEAS.
My stay at Singapore would have been very unfulfilling had it not been for the atmosphere which Mahesh, Radha, Smitha and Nandu created for me. They provided the much needed 'home' in an unfamiliar city. Sridhar Krishnaswamy and family also deserve special mention in this regard.

In Thailand, I was fortunate to meet several people who were extremely helpful. Among them Professor Sukhumbhand Paribatra, Mr. Saroj Chavanaviraj, Professor Khien Theeravit, Professor Kusuma Snitwongse, Professor Withaya Sucharithanarugse deserve special mention. My sincere and heartfelt appreciation are due to Mr. Jacques Bekaert for spending such long hours in discussing the subject. Had it not been for him, the trip to Cambodia would have remained a mere dream. I have no words to express my affection and thanks to Venki, Gayatri and Michael Romanos, who made Bangkok what it was.

When all my efforts to plan a trip to Phnom Penh failed I turned to the last resort - the Embassy of India at Phnom Penh. But for the interest which Ambassador G.S. Rajhans and First Secretary N.K. Saxena took, the Cambodia trip may not have materialised. I express my sincere gratitude to them and the other staff at the Indian Embassy. I would also like to mention the interest which was taken by several people with whom I interacted. Dr. Cham Withya, Deputy Permanent Secretary to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs; Mr. John Scott Halloway, Special Advisor to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs; Ms Toulong Soumara, Deputy Governor to the Bank of Cambodia; Ms. Po Sivatha, Information Department, Ministry of Foreign Affairs; Dr. Benny Widyano, Special Representative of the Secretary-General of the United Nations; Mr. Peter Schier, Permanent Representative of the Konrad-Adaneur Research Foundation; Taufk R. Soedarbo Ambassador of Indonesia; Mr. Julio Jeldres, Director of the Khmer Institute of Democracy deserve special thanks for their assistance.

Ravi Gopalaswamy and family and Rajesh Raghavan are to be specially thanked for making my Cambodian sojourn a memorable one.

My sincere gratitude must also be expressed to Chandan, Govind, Raju and all the others at Sanjay Photostat, SIS, for their painstaking work with the typing and finalising of this thesis.

My years at JNU were made more pleasant by the presence of a large and loving circle of friends. Mr. S. Ramakrishnan and family, Mr. Kuttan and family, Mr. Krishnaswamy and family have been very supportive. To them I owe my heartfelt gratitude. Among my friends I owe sincere appreciation to Sudha R., Sudha P., Manila, Linda, Mallika and Ignatius, Jayanti and Sameer and Dhunni and Poonam who have been a constant support. There are others who deserve a very special mention for making my JNU years so enriching - Sekhar, Suparna, Bonnie, Sujana, Prasad, Smruti, Cherian, Kedise, Sucharita, Ravi, Venket, Senthil, M.V.S.V. Prasad, Mayjee, Zos and Sathya. Their assistance during the final weeks of my work have been tremendous and for this I express my heartfelt thanks.

Last and most important are the members of my family. To Appa, Amma, Sayee, Venki, VK, Gayatri, Swathi and Shyam, I owe everything that is mine. I thank them all for their unconditional love, support and the gift of their presence in my life.
