ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am most indebted and grateful to my supervisor Prof. S.D. Muni for his constant inspiration and effective guidance in giving shape to my thesis. He has always been patient and bearing with me.

I am thankful to the faculty of the South Asian Division who greatly enhanced my academic inquisitiveness and for all the help in my research at different levels. I would also like to record my deep sense of gratitude to Prof. Suryanarayan (Madras University) who has been a source of constant encouragement right from my M.Phil days.

My whole-hearted thanks are due to Prof. K.W. Gunawardene and Padmanathan for the help rendered to me during my field-trip to Colombo which made it very fruitful. At the same time, I can't leave out mentioning Mr. Haleam Ishak, Member of Parliament (UNP), Mr. Dinesh Gunawardene, leader of MEP and, Mr. P. Devaraj, Member of Parliament (CWC) who helped to make contacts and also provided me with valuable information.

The fellowship provided by the University Grants Commission over the last five years greatly eased the financial burden and helped me to focus all attention on research. Thanks are also due to JNU for funding my field-trip to Sri Lanka which helped me to experience the country's electoral politics first-hand and come to a better understanding.

I must appreciate the library staff of JNU and Nehru Memorial Library (New Delhi). During my field-trip the staff of the following libraries were very helpful: National Library, National Archives, Colombo University Library, Marga Institute and, International Centre for Ethnic Studies (Colombo).
Mr. Sumit Nagandala, Mrs. Seetha Rajapakse, Kalaimagal, Kanchana Mayangoda, Wijayasinghe and Ameer John - my friends in Colombo, who went out of their way to help me adjust initially to the new environment and also helped me with my research. I am thankful to my senior friends, Muralidharan, Dr. Sahadevan, Dr. Thangavelu, Gajendran, Dr. Samuel, Dr. Saravanan and, Alotious who constantly boosted my morale.

My friends Chandramani, Abhay, Ajay Babu, Shanki, Pavanandhi, Joseph, Dharma, Srinin, Appu, Shah Nawas, Arul, Murali, Abul, Smruti, Ramana, Selwyn, Manohar, Zerin, Subroat, Rajesh, Ajay, Debu, Prasad, Devaraj, Kennady, Shilesh, Ravindra, Lucas, and Ramakrishna who have all made my stay in JNU wonderful and memorable. I thank Bonnie, Varaprasad, Kalyan and Venkataraman from the bottom of my heart for their unhesitant and prompt help especially during the final stages of my work.

A special mention has to be made of my friends Mettilda, Priyantha and his wife Anula, and their son Ravi who have always been extremely helpful.

My beloved mother, sister, brothers, sisters-in-law have always been there providing me the emotional support all through the years.

Needless to say, whatever mistakes and shortcomings that may exist are entirely mine.
