ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This dream project would not have become a reality without the skilful and dedicated efforts of several individuals. I take this opportunity to record any indebtedness to all of them. When there is so much to say and so much to write one really doesn’t know where to start from. So is true, in my case where I have to write a few words in gratitude for my revered teacher and guide Prof. S.C Agrawal Ph.D., F.B.S. C.A.S.F., (U.K.) Head, Department of Applied Microbiology and Biotechnology Dr. Hari Singh. Gour Vishwavidalya Sagar (M.P.) the man. his personality his Charisma are so gigantic that they simply dwarf my words and ink. All I can say is that my thesis work was the brainchild of respected Sir.

This thesis of mine would not have taken this shape as of today without the help and support of Dr. R.C. Jain Ex-Director of L.R.S. Institute of Tuberculosis and Allied Diseases. His influence on the work has been profound, particularly in ensuring its relevance to the objective of study. I shall always remain indebted to sir for all this and the fatherly love and affection he has showered up on me.

It is with immense pleasure that I express my profound sense of gratitude to Dr. (Prof.) V.K. Arora Director, L. R. S. Institute of Tuberculosis and Allied Disease for his encouragement and abounding affection. It is that with his relentless and untiring efforts this work has been the light of the day.

When confusions are aglore and horizon seems cloudy you need some one to lighten up your path, to show you the way, to make you believe that it’s possible. Dr V. P. Myneedue M.D. Bacteriologist Dept. of Microbiology of L.R.S. Institute of Tuberculosis and Allied Disease, New Delhi, not only raised my self-confidence but also supervised my work on a day-to-day basis. Warm regards to his.

I was lucky enough to be in close contact with person Dr. (Mrs) P. Vishalakshi Bacteriologist (Dept. of Microbiology L.R.S. Institute of Tuberculosis and Allied Diseases) repute and calibre. Her valuable suggestion and constructive criticism benefited me a lot throughout my tenure. Needless to mention the encouragement.

A day of million steps begins with the first step. This is what was taught to me by my teacher Dr. Manpreet Bhatta. Research Officer. She extended great support to me throughout my stay in the department.

I was lucky enough to be in close contact with my Dr. Haneef Bacteriologist. New Delhi Tuberculosis Center. I imbibed a lot from his vast knowledge.

I was fortunate enough to have the guidance of Dr. S. P. Gupta. CMO (NFSG) Who whole heartedly supported me, throughout my endeavour. I acknowledge with gratitude the help and co-operation extended me by Dr. Rohit Sarin. AMS. Dr. R.K. Dewan, CAO and Chest physician Dr. Anand Jaiswal, Dr. S. K. Munjal, Dr. Rupak Singla, Dr. M.M. Puri, Dr. M. Sirkar, Dr. Kamla Verma, CMO. Dr. Kumud Gupta. Pathologist, Dr. Aswini, Dr. Sidhwa of the L.R.S. Institute of TB and Allied Disease New Delhi-30.
