ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am extremely happy to record my sincere gratitude to my revered teacher Professor P.S. Ramakrishnan, F.N.A., F.A.Sc., F.N.A.Sc., Professor of Ecology, School of Environmental Sciences, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, whose able guidance, constant inspiration and encouragement throughout this research work has enabled me to complete the task.

Thanks are due to the present Dean Professor C.K. Varshney and earlier Deans Professors V. Asthana and L.K. Pandey, for their support during this study. Thanks are also due to Dr. Brij Gopal for his constant encouragement.

It is a pleasure to record my sincere gratitude to Dr. K.S.S. Nair, Director, Kerala Forest Research Institute (KFRi), Peechi, Trichur and Dr. C.T.S. Nair, former Director, KFRi, for their invaluable help and profound interest which has enabled me to complete this course of investigation. They provided all laboratory and field facilities without which this work would not be completed. I am grateful to Drs. K. Balasubramanyan, T.G. Alexander, R. Gnanaharan, K.V. Bhat and Messrs N. Sasidharan, M.I. Mohammad Ali, M. Balasundaran, and a host of other scientists and staff of the KFRi for their ready help during field and laboratory work. Thanks are also due to Mr. K. Ravindran, Librarian, KFRi and other staff members of the library for their keen interest, help and cooperation.
Without the help and encouragement from the Assistant Managers of Kerala Forest Development Corporation Ltd., (KFDC; Pothumala and Pakuthipalam units) especially Mr. N. Sudheer and Mr. Prasad, and other staff members (particularly Messrs K. Rajan, R. Radhakrishnan, K. Karian, Suresh Menon, Musa Koya and Azeez) I would never have been able to complete this task. My hearty thanks to all of them for making my days in the forest cheerful and fruitful. Special words of thanks are also due to the labourers of KFDC, Pothumala and Pakuthipalam units, particularly Messrs K. Subramanian, Rajan, Challamuthu, Palanichamy, Hridayarajan, Chenthamara and their family members for help in various ways.

I am grateful to Dr. Kailash Paliwal, Reader, Department of Plant Sciences, School of Biological Sciences, Madurai Kamaraj University, Madurai and Dr. P.S. Swamy, lecturer in the same department for providing me laboratory facilities so that plant samples could be chemically analysed. I also express my thanks to Mr. K. Karunaichamy, research scholar in Madurai Kamaraj University for his ready help during the analysis.

I benefitted immensely from discussions with Dr. K.G. Saxena, Senior Scientist, G.B. Pant Institute of Himalayan Environment and Development, Kosi, Almora. I owe thanks to him. I am highly thankful to Professor T.C. Whitmore, Oxford Forestry Institute, University of Oxford, England who always evinced a keen interest in my work. The fruitful discussions
I had with him on the various aspects of study are gratefully acknowledged. I am thankful to Drs. U. Goel, S.C. Ram, A.K. Gangawar, R.K. Maikhuri, Suprava Patnaik, V. Jeeva, J. Sandhu, S.P.S. Vishwaha and Mr. Gopal Shankar Singh for their help, suggestions and encouragement.

The patience with which my grandparents, parents, brothers and other family members bore with me during this period of research is also remembered with gratitude and words fail me to convey my feelings for their support and affection. To Mrs. Lalitha Achutha Rao and her family members and to Mrs. and Dr. H. Ramachandra Swamy I am deeply grateful for their constant encouragement. My hearty thanks are always due to my wife Mrs. Shailaja for her keen interest in the work, for immense help during field, laboratory and writing work and for moral and mental support throughout the research period which has enabled me to complete the task.

It is my utmost pleasure to express thanks to Mrs. and Dr. K. Vishnu Bhat, Mr. Paruthikattil Thomas, Dr. T.V. Venkatesh, Mr. A.K. Himakara, Miss Poonam Krishnan, Mr. Puneeth K. Krishnan and Miss Ankila for their help and cooperation.

I shall be failing if I do not thank Mr. Subhash Kuriakose for helping in photography and Mr. Ishwar Kumar for typing the thesis.
Last, but not the least I express my thanks to the Graduate Aptitude Test for Engineering (GATE) for financial support which facilitated this work.

U. M. Chandrashekara

[ U. M. CHANDRASHEKARA. ]