ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I express great debt of gratitude to Dr. S. MOKSHAPATHY, Assistant Professor, Institute of Development Studies, University of Mysore, Mysore, for his inspiring guidance, scholarly supervision and patience, yet thought provoking encouragement right from the inception of the study up to its logical conclusion. I shall always cherish with very high respect and gratitude to the invaluable time and efforts spared by him for this purpose. His uncompromising commitment to perfection has chiseled the work into final shape. If not for his painstaking efforts this work would not have been successful.

I would like to extend my appreciation to Prof. D. Shrijay Devaraj Urs, Director of Institute of Development Studies, University of Mysore, Mysore.

I would like to thank the whole faculty members in the Institute of Development Studies, University of Mysore, Prof. T. M. Mahesh, Dr. H. M. Chandrashekar and Dr. M. Devaraj.

I am very grateful to many people who helped me in many ways to carry out this research. It is not possible to mention every one of them but a few people must be singled out: Prof. Bevrañi professor of statistic who helped me with statistical analysis; Ms. Leelavathy who helped me for editing; Dr. Soltani and Ms. Sheikhian who helped me for data collection in Iran.

I am grateful to all the managers of SMEs who extended their cooperation in providing me with the relevant data and filled up my questionnaire to complete this research work.
I really cannot find words to thank the main force behind me and behind all my achievement: my Dear Father and Mother who put their endless support, help and encouragement to bring me up to this level I have reached today.

The support and encouragement of my Dear Sisters and Brothers have been also a main fuel that kept me going and determined to reach my goals.

My special thanks and apologies to my best and kindest supporter in India Dr. Kourosh Davoodi who was with me in my whole difficult instance.
