ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is the result of just not my research work but the outcome of the support, cooperation and encouragement of all those who accompanied me and gave me strength to complete this task. Although the list of people I wish to thank extends beyond the scope of this format, I would like to thank following persons for their dedication, prayers and support.

First of all, I wish to express my deepest thanks to my supervisors Professor Ashok Kumar Prasad and Professor V. S. Parmar under whose able guidance this study was successfully completed. Their enthusiasm, energetic attitude and positive view towards research have encouraged me to endure my research work. They have been a source of inspiration for me throughout my PhD work, their continuous support and patience provided perfect environment for me to grow as a chemist and as an individual. I always want to be best owed with their wishes.

Sincere thanks are extended to Professor J. M. Khurana and Professor D. S. Rawat, the members of my PhD advisory committee for devoting their precious time and making many valuable suggestions which indeed helped to improve this thesis.

I wish to express my thanks to:

I wish to thank my friends Amarnath Reddy, Ramanujan, Rahim and Deepika for their coorporation and moral support. They always stood by me to share my happiness and at the same time listen to my woes and worries.

Supporting staff of our group, especially Baldevji, Ajeet, Ashok Dogra, Mahender, Shamshuddin, Amit as they have been very co-operative during these years.

This acknowledgement is incomplete without the mention of those without whom life becomes meaningless. My family is my strength, my joy, my inspiration, my motivation and my life. My parents, the true gift of my life taught me never to lose heart even if the dark is so long. They always inspired me for working hard with full of hope and enthusiasm. I am grateful to my father, mother and my loving sisters and brother Indra Shekhar Reddy and finally my wife Spandana for their love, care, patience, support and understanding.

I would like to thank my teachers from whom I have got lessons in my life to become what I am today. Their advices and guidance enabled me to choose the right path in my life.

I must thank all those whom I have failed to mention but they have helped me in various ways during the course of this work.
