Acknowledgements

At the outset, I wish to gratefully acknowledge and thank all the people who have helped me to successfully complete this research thesis.

First of all, I express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. Ojesh Pratap Singh, Associate Professor in the Department of Music, University of Delhi, for his valuable guidance and inspiration throughout this research work.

I am also indebted to Professor Anupam Mahajan, former Head of the Department of Music and, Prof. Uma Garg, the present Head of the Department of Music, University of Delhi, for their encouragement and co-operation.

A number of people provided me with very important information by elaborating on the current and historical trends and situations in the field of music recording. Therefore, I also wish to thank all the recording engineers, musicians and other resource people with extreme pleasure as, without their support, I would not have been able to maintain the continuity of the research.

I would like to thank the staff members of the main library of the University of Peradeniya (Sri Lanka), National Archives in Sri Lanka and also the library staff of the Faculty of Music and Fine Arts, University of Delhi, for their kind co-operation.

I wish to offer my sincere gratitude to the Director and the staff of the “National Center for Advanced studies in Humanities and Social Sciences in Sri Lanka” and the “ISLE Center” for awarding research grants for the purpose of reading my PhD degree.
I am especially grateful to Dr. Padmasiri Wanigasundera for assisting me in editorial improvements of the thesis.

I gratefully thank the academic members of the Department of Fine Arts, University of Peradeniya, especially Mr. Athula Samrakoon (Head of the Department), for helping me in various ways.

Finally, I am obliged to express my heartfelt gratitude to my beloved parents and my brother Mr. Pubudu Alawathukotuwa and his wife Mrs. Nadepka Herath, my wife Mrs. Niluka Abeykoon and son Kanchana Alawathukotuwa, who have always encouraged me to continue my academic pursuits. Also, I thank my friends Rev. Kadawathamaduwe Damminda, Eshan, Passanna Jayawardana, and Lasith Dissanayake, Suranga Senanayaka and W.A.N. Tilanaga and many others have also continuously encouraged and strengthened me to complete this research work.
