ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

A pleasant task of reciprocating by words to those who helped directly or indirectly in shaping this dissertation is constrained only by a limited space for describing the nature of debts to each of them.

This pious Sanskrit shloka oozes from my heart while I express my deepest sense of reverence and indebtedness to my research guide Prof. Ashok Shanubhogue, Professor, Department of Statistics, Sardar Patel University, for his keen interest, invaluable guidance, inspiration, immense zeal for hard work, strive for perfection and positive outlook towards the subject. His scholarly intellect, profile persuasiveness and insistence on reality have always been and always shall continue to be a guiding light in the darkness of my ignorance. You have been a tremendous mentor for me. Your advice on both research as well as my career have been priceless.

I would also like to thank my research committee members Prof. P.A. Patel and Dr. Jyoti Divecha for serving on research committee for this work painstakingly. I express my heartfelt regards to Dr. M.B. Bhatt, Mr. Dharmesh raykundaliya and Miss Ruhi Punjani for their cooperation during the course of study.

I would also like to thank University Officials and Staff, in particular, Ajaybhai and Bindubhai for their support during course of study.

I have treasured incomparable affection and unforgettable moments with my friends DPR, Manoj, Dr. Dinesh Karia, Dharshan, Priyang and Raja, whose constant encouragement and constructive criticism made it easy to achieve this target.

My heart takes a breath when I realize the painstaking efforts taken up by my beloved parents, Ushaben and Vinodbhai, who taught me the central truth of human personality is love, virtue, peace and yagya and my sisters, Bela and Chaku, for providing me ceaseless encouragement and moral momentum to release the enigmatic and attracting arena of science. At the end I would like to express appreciation to my beloved wife Vaishali, who spent sleepless nights with and was always my support in all the moments of my life. I would like to thank my beloved children Tulshi and Shiv. I solemnize to dedicate the thesis to them and offer the same to science as a humble tribute.

Place : Vallabh Vidyanagar

Mayank V. Bhatt

Date : 