TO THE MEMORIES OF

DR. PANDURANG V. SUKHATME
[27-7-1911 to 28-1-1997]

A simple, average looking, Indian person who has set a role model of a scientist before the research workers of the entire world through his own life and work by putting forth the scientific ways to fight against the all time enemies of humanity (and the living world): the hunger, malnutrition, in health and poverty through the successful application of the science of Statistics with experiments in agriculture, animal husbandry, nutrition, hygiene, education, yoga, community kitchen, livable village and rural development

AND

MAHATMA JOTIRAO PHULE
[11-4-1827 to 28-11-1890]

A writer, a dramatist, a poet, an active philosopher, the first Indian to open the schools for all (girls, boys and adults from all castes, communities, religions and nations), pioneer of most of the social revolutionary movements in modern India, founder of Satyadharma (Religion of Truth) and Satyashodhak Samaj (Truth finder’s Society) who brought king Shivaji in focus 189 years after his death and who was described by young Barr. M.K.Gandhi (The then Mahatma) as the great soul of the great souls. (Mahatma onka Mahatma).