Acknowledgement

“Goals are the destinations and objectives are the stops we make in life”. Now as I move ahead to reach my destination I look back at the years spent here to earn my Doctoral Degree for which I owe immense gratitude to all wonderful people who guided and helped me through.

I express my heartfelt gratitude to my Guide Dr Krishna Prasad Chennazhi Associate Professor, Amrita Centre for Nanosciences and Molecular Medicine, Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham for the valuable guidance and support extended during the course of my thesis work. His consistent encouragement and advices have contributed a lot in the entire period of my study. He helped me be an independent researcher.

I am obliged to Dr. Shantikumar V Nair, distinguished Director, Amrita Centre for Nanosciences and Molecular Medicine & Dean of Research, Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham for giving me the opportunity to conduct my PhD research using all the world class facilities available in the centre. His advices and critical suggestions had a major role in framing my research work in proper direction. I look up to him for his consistent efforts in keeping the ACNS family together and inculcating cultural values in the heart of students.

I owe my sincere gratitude to my Co-Guide, Dr. R Jayakumar, for his help, suggestions and guidance during the course of the work. His timely advices led me smooth through difficult situations during these years as a PhD student.

I would like to thank my doctoral committee member, Dr. Deepthy Menon, Dr.Krishna Kumar Menon and Dr.Vijay Mohan, for their valuable suggestions and the great deal of encouragement to complete my work. I take this opportunity to express my gratefulness to all the Faculty members of Amrita Centre for Nanosciences and Molecular Medicine and Mrs. Girija and Sreeshma for their support. I sincerely extend my gratitude to Dr. Gopi Chellan and Dr. Unnikrishnan for the questions that they put forth at crucial moments of my experimental discussions that helped me move forward.

I express immense respect and gratitude to Prof. A. K. K. Unni for evoking an inner strength and confidence in me and my sincere thanks to his very disciplined and hardworking team comprising of Dr. Resmi, Sunilettan, Sajith, Shandini, Sunitha, and Chechi at the animal house.

I sincerely acknowledge Sajin and Dr. Sidharamana Gowd for their technical support in the characterisation and in vivo NIR imaging. They were kind enough to render their services whenever needed.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to Amrita Vishwa Vidyapeetham, for providing substantial infrastructure support for research. I thank all the OGCA office staff for their meticulous working spirits and to the chechis on the floor for keeping the workstations spic and span that fills positives into the environment.

I am thankful to all the Ph. D students especially Dr. Divya V. V for mentoring me through cell culture studies, Dr. Binulal Nelson Sathy whose exemplary thesis stood as a guideline for accomplishing mine. Sreeja Narayanan, Dhanya Narayanan, Paravathy Chandran, Archana, Dr. Nithya Ganesh and Vijay Bhaskar Reddy for sharing their knowledge and experimental skills throughout.

I would not have completed my work without the strong friendship and immense support rendered by hardworking Sanoj Rejinold, dedicated Anitha A, skilled Sudheesh, peacemaker Maya, happy go lucky Smitha, matter of fact Lakshmi and jack of all trades Praveen Govindh. I am deeply thankful to Dr. Sabitha for filling me with positive energy.
I extend gratitude to all my friends listed here Amal, Gopi, Kavya, Ashwathy, Snima, Maya, Chandini, Soumya, Dr. Shalumon, Sreerekha chechi, Jiljith, Sharath, Giridharan, Girish, Renjith, Anusha, Manju, Annapoorna, Deepthy, Sajesh, Soumya, Abhilash, Gaurav, Amit and all my friends for giving life and character to ACNS and for making each and every day of the five years of my research life memorable and blessed.

I reciprocate and appreciate all the Ph D and M Tech students who with their pleasant smile and warm hellos made me feel enthusiastic.

I would forever be thankful to God for blessing me with such a wonderful husband and friend, Giffin who has been so gently leading my life, and our son Sidharth a bundle of joy whose energy is my driving force to be a multitasking mother that I am today, Achan for being there as a strong pillar for the family and the determination that he has for me to set high goals in life and to achieve it, Amma for showing me the different colours of Life.

It was the support extended from my Acha and Amma Anuetta, Smithechi that made me strong and feel needed always. I very fondly extend my love to my niece Nava the youngest one in the family whose very thought is as rejuvenating as the morning dew.

I would like to acknowledge all who have come across in the period of the study who encouraged me and helped me personally and professionally.

I realize that it is GOD and AMMA who have led me through all the time, as the true spirit and strength in me! I render myself before Almighty; for all that I have in my Life!

Deepa Narayanan