ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

First of all, it is with deep sense of indebtedness and gratitude for the Almighty God without His blessing this monumental task would not have been possible.

I feel highly privileged to express my gratitude to my esteemed supervisor Prof. Ashok Aggarwal, Department of Botany, Kurrukshetra University, Kurrkshetra for his keen interest, dynamic supervision, immense cooperation, valuable suggestions, unfailing patience, constructive and thoughtful criticism during the entire research and thesis work. He was readily available whenever required, infact, word appear fail in articulating my gratitude to him.

Dr. B.D. Vashistha, Chairperson of Botany Department, Kurrkshetra University, Kurrkshetra rightly deserves my gratitude for cooperation, support and for his valuable suggestion for identification of the ornamental flowering plants.

I owe my deepest gratitude to the entire teaching and non-teaching faculty of Botany Department, specially Dr. Narender Singh, Dr. Neelu Sood, Dr. Mukerji, Dr. Sharada Rani and Dr. C.B Singh for extending their full cooperation, moral support and valuable knowledge as and when required. I would also like to thank all the Indian and Foreign authors whose research work helped me in giving the final shape to my findings.

My work would not have reached its logical conclusion without the help of Dr. Sunita Kaushih (Head, Botany Department, D.A.V. College, Yamunanagar) for AM fungal spores identification. I would never forget the help I got from Dr. Anju Tanwar Dr. Kuldeep Yadav and Dr. Shabana for their valuable help, advice and support in shaping thesis work. I owe a lot to Neetu, Nisha, Alpa, Chhavi and Sonika, for spending memorable times together and for their timely help during this work. I am also thankful to Navnita, Jagveer and Ishan for their support.

I would like to thank to all senior and fellow scholars especially Dr. Aditya Kumar, Dr. Ravi Raghuwanshi, Dr. Hemant Sharma, Dr. Yogesh Kumar, Pooja, Savita, Puneet, Mandeep, Luxmi and Rameshwar for their support, help and advice during the tenure of my thesis.
One cannot forget the strength and support one gets from the family. With gratitude and reverence, I acknowledge and admire the unbounded love, constant inspiration and moral support bestowed on me by my father (Sh. Rajendra Prasad) and mother (Smt. Rakhi), without their support, the present effort would have remained an unrealized dream and a mere thanks would not suffice for it. Words can’t express my thankfulness for all their support along the way of my academic career. I express my regards to my father- in-law (Sh. Kundal Lal), mother-in-law (Smt. Shanti Devi), and brother-in-law (Sh. Rajesh Kumar and Rajendra Kumar) and for their everlasting support, guidance, care, love and supportive atmosphere. Also I’d like to acknowledge the huge role of my loving sister (Ms Namrata) and sister-in-law (Mrs. Poonam, Mrs. Vandana, Ms Rita, and Ms Sapna) in motivating my own belief in a number of ways.

I owe my deepest gratitude to my brother (Dr. Ravi Kant) and bhabhi (Dr. Shruti) for their effort, consistent support and unconditional love which keep me stood firmly throughout all the challenging periods. Their meaningful advice continued to inspire me.

I owe special thanks to kids of my family Kittu, Pehu, Sonak, Siddarth and Vansh for all their affection and laughter they gifted to me with his cute and tender voice that filled me up with enthusiasm.

I have no words to express my heartiest thanks to my loving husband (Rajiv Kumar) for his constant encouragement and cooperation at every stage of my work. I could not have completed my thesis without your support and help. You have made me feel special even when times were tough for me. You have been my pillar of strength through all my ups and downs. I feel like the luckiest girl to be married to a man like you.

Last but not the least I would again like to admire the Almighty who provided me great zeal and enthusiasm that made all things possible.

KARISHMA
