Throughout my personal and professional experiences I have built my conceptualization of the human being as a bio-psycho-social and spiritual being with a purpose in life. The human being has some innate abilities or resources and others are acquired which makes them capable of making decisions. One of my purposes at a professional level was to have doctorate degree in life. I have reached my professional goals, not only because of my innate abilities, but I am fortunate enough to meet wonderful and co-operative people around me that have contributed to my life with knowledge, words of support, and motivation.

First of all I thank you God, for life, health, energy and confidence that you have given me to reach my professional goals.

After God I am thankful to one of my ideal, Dr. S.O.Junare who helped me in each and every situation throughout my dissertation. It is with profound feelings of gratitude I place on record, my extreme indebtedness to him for providing me support in terms of knowledge, resources and guidance. This research would not have reached to the stage of thesis unless his kind and quick support. I am extremely thankful to him for providing his valuable time, however the busiest schedule he has. I was also delighted when he replied me on phone for the smallest query of my research without any hesitation.

I would like to thank KadiSarva Vishwa Vidyalaya University to provide me a platform to undertake my doctoral studies.

I would like to thank Mr. Jatin, an executive from capitaline database, who helped me a lot to find and provide me data sets whenever I demand. I also thank to all staff members of Vikram Sarabhai Library, IIM-A, Ahmedabad who co-operate me a lot. A doctor research is an internal motivation for scholar. However the environment and literature available at Vikram Sarabhai Library, IIM –A, provided me inner motivation and inspired for my research. It would be impossible for me to complete thesis without using resources and environment at Vikram Sarabhai Library, IIM-A.

The next credit goes to Professor M.N.Patel (Head of the Statistic Department, Gujarat University), who helped me in reading statistical results and guide me for my statistical tool.
Ms. Vaidehi Shah, an academic associate at IIM-A also helped me in reading of statistical tables.

I am also grateful to Dr. Santana Mehta, who during my RDC meet, reframed and suggested newer title. I am thankful to my teachers Dr. Para Songhai, Dr. Manish Joshipura, Mr. Taral Pathak and Dr. Ravi Gor for their valuable suggestions.

This all personalities and institution helped me during my entire research, but I am fortunate enough to get the help at the starting of my research. I cannot forget those days, when I was searching for good research topic and my colleague Dr. Abhinavsingh and Dr. Siddharth Das suggested me this topic. After preparing research proposal I was confused for better title for my entire research, Dr. Abhinavsingh suggested me good title for my research.

Last but most importantly, I would thank to my both sons for their sacrifices, as I spent hours and hours in library to complete my research. This research would not be furnished without continuous effort of my husband. I am obliged to him for managing every possible resource for my research. I remember those days when I gave birth to my younger son and completely lost confidence for continuing my research work, my husband encouraged me and put me in the place to restart work. I am grateful to my mother in law, for always being available to take care of my kids when I had to write a paper. My father in law, equally responsible to manage my sons and spending time with them in my absence. Your prayers, good wishes, and interest are specially treasured in my heart.

I also show my heartiest gratitude to my parents who make me capable of understanding this process and gave me strength to complete this.

Lastly I am thankful to all those whom I have not quoted unknowingly, but helped me directly or indirectly.

PINAL SHAH.
