Bibliography

Research papers:

Entrepreneurship Conference’, Wilfrid Laurier University, Waterloo, Ontario, Canada.

Books:

   Edition. New Delhi: TMH.
14) Parasuraman, A., Grewal, D., & Krishnan, R. Marketing Research, First Indian Adaptation. New Delhi: biztantra
16) Radhakrishnan, G. Tourism Promotional Perspectives and Issues, Hyderabad: The Icfai University Press.

Reports:
2) Annual Reports 2011-12, Ministry of Tourism, Government of India.

14) Pulak Guhathakurta and Elizabeth Saji (2012) Trends and variability of monthly, seasonal and annual rainfall for the districts of Maharashtra and spatial analysis of seasonality index in identifying the changes in rainfall regime; National Climate Centre, India Meteorological Department, Pune, India 411005 pp.1-26

Theses:

1) Hepburn,E.S.T.(2008). Agritourism as a viable strategy for economic diversification: A case study analysis of policy options for the Bahamas; A Dissertation Presented to the Graduate School of Clemson University
2) Hsu,C.C.(2005).Identification of intangible resources essential to Agritourism Enterprises in Taiwan: a delphi study, A Dissertation Presented in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the Degree Doctor of Philosophy in the Graduate, School of The Ohio State University
5) Marin,B.(2009). Contributions to the improvement of The management of agritouristic farms In the caras-severin county submitted to Banat university of agricultural sciences And veterinary medicine Timisoara.

Webliography:

1) http://mahaagri.gov.in/CropWeather/AgroClimaticZone.html#map

6) Geography of Maharashtra http://www.maharashtratourism.net/geography.html and http://www.eholidaysindia.com/maharashtra.htm

8) Tourists Attractions in Maharashtra.
   www.maharashtratourism.gov.in, www.maharashtratourism.net

9) Sustainable Tourism

10) Sustainable Destination Management: The VICE model