Dreams are the basis for future accomplishment, a research work is the garb in which the dreams are dressed up & these become alive when surveys are conducted and analyzed in proper way.

In this process exchange of ideas generates an energy & will to perform in a better way, a person can perform better if helped and cooperated by others, guidance shows the right path to destination and his heart is found to pay gratitude and obligation to them.

Acknowledgment is not mere formality but an expression of deep gratitude and thanks to all who helped during my thesis work. It is always difficult to thank all those involved in a long drawn endeavor. It is my pleasure to place on record my deep sense of gratitude for the corporation extended to me by the great souls, without whom I would not have been in a position to complete this research work.

I would firstly like to thanks Dr. Y.S. Thakur (Head Department of Business Management) my guide for this research work, whose constant support and insistence on detail, have helped me to complete this research work in its present form.
