ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

During the course of this gigantic task of research, I have received help, encouragements and guidance from several persons; to all of them I am gratefully thankful. In particular, I express my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to my supervisor Professor H. N. Giri, Ex-Head of the Department and Dean Faculty of Law, Dr. H.S. Gour Vishwavidyalaya Sagar (M.P.) under whose able and scholarly guidance this work was planned and carried out. I have no words for thanking him for his ungrudging supervision, rigorous corrections of the script and valuable suggestions for improvement; and for his innovative vision, aptly toned and laboratory pursuits towards a productive research. His encouraging assessment, affectionate words and ever available patience hearing always kept me charged and motivated to perform to best ever in the condition of ups and downs.

I also express my heartfelt gratitude to Shri P.P. Singh, Head of the Department of Law less for providing facilities in the Department but much more for his anatomical dissection of the reality, in-depth discussions and inspiring lectures pertaining to the environmental problems and for his affectionate guidance, help and encouragements which have been perennial source of additional energy and vitality for continuing and completion of this research.

At the same time, I express my indebtedness to Professor S. K, Sharma, Ex-Head of the Department of General and Applied Geography and Director Population Research Centre, Dr Hari Singh Gour Vishwavidyalaya Sagar (M.P.) who is not only my guardian but a model for me and constant source of inspiration and who not only encouraged me to stride on the thorny path of research but also dutifully helped in bringing my thesis in this shape. It was impossible task for me without his help.

I can not forget the unforgettable help and encouragements of Shri Sundar Lal Shrivastava, Senior Advocate, Sagar who made possible which was otherwise impossible. I gratefully express my thanks to him. I am also grateful to Professor Shri Nath Sharma, Department of Sociology, Professor R.N. Yadav Dept. of Chemistry, Dr. Rakesh Sharma, Department of Journalism & Mass Communication, Professor A.D. Sharma, Department of Philosophy who always supported and encouraged me as elder brothers and to Dr. Laxmi Pandey, Department of Hindi who sympathized at the time of distress.

I will be failing to my duties, if I do not place on record the help I received throughout the long period of this research from my affectionate friends - Dr. Pawan Tiwari, Dr. Vivek Tiwari, Dr. Rajendra Dixit, Dr. Surendra Chourasia, Shri Mukesh Dangi (Civil Judge), Shri Rajesh Yadav (Civil Judge), Shri Rajendra Yadav (Advocate), Dr. Mithilesh Choubey and Dr. Dharmendra Mishra (Reader in Law, BHU). I also wish to thank my beloved students - Dheerendra Singh Parmar, Punit Singh Chandel, Shireesh Mishra, Praveen Pandey, Vineet Jain, Ashish Gopal Chaturvedi, Subhash Pandey, Sarin Shrivastava, Sumit Jain, Ambuj Shrivastava, Rohit Shrivastava, Dilip Sharma, Namrata Kesharwani, Ruchi Bhargava, Hani Pali and Neha Dubey for their helping hands. I also acknowledge the respect and promptness of Pankaj Mishra, Manu Bundela and Saurabh Parmar, shown during this research.

It is my pleasant duty to place on record my sincere thanks to all teachers, employees and in-charge of Departmental Library Ms Sandhya Bohare who directly and indirectly extended their cooperation in this work.

It would have been an impossible task to complete this thesis without the cooperation of my family members. The silent, consistent and strong support and sacrifices of my parents and other family members in bringing this venture to this stage is heartily acknowledged.

I am also very thankful to Shri Rajesh Pandey (Sai Computer Center, Sagar) for skillful typing of the thesis.
