

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

There were numerous persons who contributed to this present study. First and foremost, I want to give thanks to the Lord and my guru Sat Baba Shah Ji for providing me this opportunity to write the thesis and this was completed successfully because of their blessings.

I would like to express my deep sense of gratitude to my doctoral supervisor Professor R. K. Mittal (Retd.), Department of Commerce, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra whose unparalleled contribution instilled a spirit of research work in the investigator, without whose inspiration, encouragement, inventive suggestions, devotional interest, it would have not been possible to achieve in outline. These years I have always found him sympathetic and principle-centered. In spite of his frequent pre-occupations, he always spared his precious time to guide me at all stages of the work.

Additionally, sincere gratitude also goes out to Professor Shashi Anand, Department of Commerce, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra for generously contributing their knowledge and who at all times available when I desired his help. He is also guided me as father. He is serene by nature. His blessings have been extremely supportive for me. This thesis could not have been completed without the help of him. I now realize how much I have learned from him.

I gratefully acknowledge the cooperation of Prof. B.S. Bodla, Chairman, University School of Management, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra. Without, his expert guidance, the research work would not have been completed in the present shape. His suggestions have been extremely helpful. I really expressed my deepest gratitude to Prof. B.S. Bodla.

I owe a special thanks to Prof. Narender Singh, Department of Commerce, Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra for their experienced guidance who helped me when I desired his help.
