ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I got a lot of valuable help from many a person who has helped me in many ways either by giving academic help and comments or by giving physical help and mental encouragement in bringing out this thesis in the present form.

I extend my deep sense of gratitude to my respected supervisor Professor, W. Nabakumar Singh, former Dean of Students' Welfare and former Head of the Department of Anthropology, Manipur University, for his valuable and inspiring guidance, encouragement and constant supervision; without that it would not have been possible on my part to complete this work within the stipulated period.

I extend my heartiest thanks and gratitude to Dr. O. Kumar Singh, former Head, Post Graduate Department of Anthropology, D. M. College of Science, Imphal, a renowned archaeologists of Manipur, for his valuable advice rendered to me during the course of my research work.
I owe my dept to my respected teacher late Professor, Harish Chandra Sharma, former Head of the department of Anthropology, Gauhati University, who inspired me to undertake my research work in the field of ethnoarchaeology.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not express my sincere thanks to teachers of the Department of Anthropology, Manipur University who gave me inspiration and valuable suggestions during the course of the preparation of the thesis.

I owe my thanks to the village elders Thuiwang Gonmei, Khullakpa of Phungong; Dinkiu Lapkou Kamei, Khunbu of Phungong; Gaichinglung Gonmei, former Khullakpa of Marang ching; Lanthaolung Gangmei, khullakpa of Khonglong; Gaini Kamei, Khullakpa of Chingkhullong; Tomba Panmei and Manganjao Kamei, Village elders of Chingkhullong; late Lanjaichung Kamei, former Khullakpa of Konthoujam; Khangbonlung Kamson, Khunbu of Konthoujam; Gujei Gonmei (teacher) of Tamenglong and friends Jinthui Gonmei, Agui Gonmei and Ruthan Gonmei of Tamenglong; Tunaremei Kamei, Agong Kamei and Khamchung Kamei of Konthoujam for their invaluable help rendered to me during the course of my field work.

I am also indebted to my respected teacher Dr. Kh. Shakhitombi Devi, former Head, Post Graduate Department of Anthropology, D. M.
College of Science, Imphal and my colleague Dr. H. Sorojini Devi, S.G. Lecturer of the same department, who always lent me a helping hand whenever I needed their help.

I owe my debt to my parents who gave me continuous moral support and encouragement, that stimulated me ever and anon when the momentum of my research work was in the wane.

I owe my special thanks to the members of my family for their moral support and whole hearted encouragement, with which I could successfully complete this research work.

My thanks are also due to the teachers of the Post Graduate Departments of Botany and Zoology, D. M. College of Science, Imphal, for their help hand rendered to me while classifying the plants and animals collected from the field.

My special thanks also go to Dr. L. Romeo Singh, Lecturer, Department of Anthropology, Moreh College, Moreh for extending his cooperation in drawing figures and computing works.

Last, but not the least, I offer my thanks to all my friends who have rendered their services directly or indirectly in the effort of completing the present work.

(Kh. Manglembi Devi)