- Table of Contents -

Acknowledgements

1 to IV.

PART - I.

FRANCOIS RABELAIS - HIS WORLD & THE LIFE OF LEARNING.

Section  -  I. Environment and Education.

II. Rabelais as Humanist and Man of the Renaissance.

III. The Social Organization of France at the end of the 15th Century.

IV. Education in France at the end of the 15th Century.

...

PART - II.

GARGANTUA AND PANTAGRUEL

Detailed Study & Critical Examination of Chapters on Education.

Section  -  I. The Education of Pantagruel.

II. The Education of Gargantua.

...

PART - III.

THE EDUCATIONAL IDEOLOGY OF FRANCOIS RABELAIS.

Section  -  I. The Essential Features of Rabelais' Pedagogy.

II. Results of Rabelais' Scheme of Education.

...
Section - III. Rabelais and Humanism.

IV. The Sources of Rabelais Educational System.

...

PART IV.

RABELAIS & THE LATER EDUCATORS

Section - I. The Influence of Rabelais with Special Reference to Montaigne, Locke and Rousseau.

II. A Study of Some Educational Principles - Rabelais, Montaigne, Locke and Rousseau.

1. The acquisition of knowledge to be accompanied by training in Character and Virtue.

2. The collateral training of Mind & Body for a harmonious development of man.

3. Education must lead to Independence of thought.

4. Theoretical studies should lead on to practical knowledge and training for life.

5. The use of sense-perception and object lessons as an integral part of instruction.

7. Choice of a good tutor who is to adopt kindly methods and make work attractive as far as possible.

8. The uses of games as teaching methods.

9. Education to be supplemented or completed by travel.

III. Rabelais with special reference to Milton's "Tractate on Education."
Section — IV. Rabelais with Special Reference to Pénasson —
"Treatise on the Education of Girls."

...