ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This thesis is based on the fieldwork on the Nepali Community of Kanglatongbi village in Manipur which aimed at the study on cultural adaptation.

I will be failing in my duty if I do not express my gratitudes and indebtedness to those who have helped, inspired, encouraged me in taking up this study and in the completion of this work.

Firstly, I express my deep gratitude and sincere thanks to my supervisor, Dr. M. Mani Babu, Associate Professor, Department of Anthropology, Manipur University, Canchipur, for his acceptance on my request for the kind of research theme and the community and for his constant help and encouragements extended to me in the completion of the present work up to the final stage. I express my gratitude and indebtedness to Prof. W. Naba Kumar, my teacher since class XI to B.Sc. level and at present Head of the Department in Anthropology and also Dean of School of Human and Environmental Sciences, Manipur University, who has constantly encouraged and inspired to complete the work and helped me directly and indirectly in the completion of the work.

Secondly, I take the pleasure of expressing my deep sense of gratitude and sincere thanks to my classmate, right from class XI to Master Degree in Anthropology, late Prof. T. Shyamacharan Singh and former Head of Department of Anthropology, Manipur University, Canchipur, Manipur, who had inspired and encouraged me to do such research work up to the last moments of his sudden death on October 2, 2010. No word is adequate to express my gratitude to late Professor, Shri Singh.
Thirdly, I express my heartiest gratitude and thanks to revered teacher, Prof. A.C. Bhagabati, former Head of the Department of Anthropology, Dibrugarh University, Assam and former Vice-Chancellor of Rajiv Gandhi University, Arunachal Pradesh, who has constantly inspired and suggested me to take the kind of study that I have under taken in ecological anthropology. Prof. Bhagabati used to explain the need of such adaptive researches in India particularly in Northeast India, keeping in view with its potential scope in explorative researches and its applied value in integrated local, regional and national socio – economic and developmental plannings. Further, I express my deep gratitude to Prof. Bhagabati who used to give serious suggestions to take up a migrant community in the study of such adaptive research paradigm.

Fourthly, I also express my deep gratitude to all the teachers of the Department, Manipur University, namely Prof. Ch. Budhi Singh, K. Sarat Singh, Associate Prof. S. Jibon Singh, Associate Prof. M.C. Arun Singh and Guest Lecturer Dr. M. Rustam Singh for their constant encouragement and possible help in various ways and friendly discussion relevant to my topic and research paradigm.

Fifthly, it is a pleasure to thank all the Post Doctoral research fellows in the department namely Dr. Ms. P. Krishnakumari Devi, Dr. Mr. Sanjit Kamai, Dr. Ms. Joshila Devi and my fellow research scholars for their friendly discussion in driving out my certain confusions while writing my thesis and necessary suggestions they extended.

Sixthly, I am thankful to Dr. N.Jiten Singh, Research Associate, The Centre for Myanmar Studies, Manipur University; Y. Subash, Caretaker, Dean Office of the School of Human and Environmental Sciences, Manipur University, R.K. Chiranjit Singh, laboratory assistant and Ms. Th. Shrila Devi, an assistant Curator, Anthropology Department, Manipur University, due to their cooperation and help imparted to me in completion of this work. My blessings also goes to
Mr. Diwakar Shiawakoti, my eldest son an M.B.A. and M.T. in HDFC Bank, who managed himself in typing this thesis patiently and for sharing with me in this work in spite of his sudden disturbance in health condition while typing. My wife, Smt. Kamala Devi Shiawakoti, a teacher in school has been an integral part of this research work and has given me inestimable amount of help, advice, as well as care of every stages to complete this work. I thank her for sharing with me.

Seventhly, I am indebted to the Nepalis of Kanglatongbi and elderly Nepalis of the village, for their quick understanding of the work of the kind and help as informants and co-operation. Particularly, thanks are due to Shri Kishor Thapa of Kanglatongbi, an ex-MLA, Shri Churamani Kharel, an ex-Pradhan, Kanglatongbi Gram Panchayat, Shri Padam Prasad Kharel of Kalapahar, an ex-Vice-Chairman of District Council, Sardar Hills, Kangpokpi, Shri Krishna Kumar Chhetry of Kanglatongbi, an I.A.S., Secretary of M.P.S.C., Govt. of Manipur, Shri Dillip Kumar Katwal, a social worker of Kanglatongbi, Shri Ran Bahadur Chapagain of Kanglatongbi, President of All Manipur Gorkha Welfare Union (A.M.G.W.U), Shri Khadka Bahadur Karki of Kanglatongbi, President of All Manipur Gorkha Student Union, Sushri Durga Sharma of Mantripukhri, a retired Associate Professor and Head of Department of Nepali Department, D.M. College of Arts, Imphal, Manipur and President of Nepali Sahitya Parishad Manipur, Shri Bhawani Adhikari, Secretary of Nepali Sahitya Parishad Manipur and Dr. Tankanath Khatiwada, Associate Prof. of Presidency College Manipur, Shri Ghanashayam Acharya of Kanglatongbi, an ex-President of All Manipur Student Union and ex- Secretary of All Manipur Gorkha Welfare Union and presently senior Lecturer in Johnston Higher Secondary School, Imphal, Shri Devi Prasad Shiawakoti of Kanglatongbi, an ex – School teacher and social worker, Shri Prem Prasad Shiawakoti of Kanglatongbi, a lecturer in Johnston Higher Secondary School, Imphal, Shri Devi Prasad Kharel of Kanglatongbi, a social worker, Smt. Shakuntala Devi of Kanglatongbi, Music Teacher, and Ranjita Devi Upreti of Kanglatongbi etc. I should not forget to thank Manipur University Librarian and Deputy Librarian for their necessary help and co-operation extended to me whenever I needed. Similar thanks goes to Shri I. Subhash Singh, S.O., Examination Section, Manipur University Chanchipur; due to his sympathy, encouragement and administrative help extended from his capacity to complete this work.

Last, but not the least, I will be failing in my duty if I do not express my gratitude and indebtedness to Prof. Andrew Russell, Department of Anthropology, Durham University, U.K., Professor T.B. Subba, former Head of the Department of Anthropology, NEHU, Shillong and present the Vice-Chancellor, Sikkim University, Sikkim, Prof. G.P. Parsain, Department of Commerce, Manipur University, Prof. G.N. Chhetry, Department of Life Science, Manipur University, Shri Dhiraj Thapa, associate professor, Lamka Govt. College, Churachandpur, Manipur, and Dr. Biren Rana, Scientist-D (Retd.), Central Silk Board, Mantripukhri, Manipur, for their constant encouragement, material help and co-operation in completion of this thesis and in various ways.

Dated: 26/12/12

Hari Krishna Shiwalkoti

(Hari Krishna Shiwalkoti)
Ph.D. Research Scholar
Registration Number-2610/2008
Department of Anthropology
Manipur University