ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I owe a deep sense of gratitude to Shri S. Mallikarjunan, M.A. (Madras), M.A. (Chicago), Reader, Department of English and Other European Languages, University of Saugar, under whose supervision I took up this study. I am thankful to him for many valuable suggestions. I am also deeply indebted to Dr. Mohanlal, M.A., Ph.D. (Wales), Professor and Head, Department of English and Other European Languages, who has been a constant source of encouragement.

I am also indebted to all those writers who have written on Tragedy and on Hardy — a debt which has been acknowledged at proper places in the study.

I am also thankful to the Librarians and the staff of Jawaharlal Nehru Library, University of Saugar, and Bombay University Library, Bombay, respectively, for making available many rare books and journals.

My thanks are due to the U.G.C. for making available a travel grant which enabled me to spend a valuable fortnight in Bombay.

I am also thankful to Mr. S.K. Shukla for typing out the thesis with meticulous care.

Finally, without the sympathy and understanding of my patient wife, this work would never have been completed.
