ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I first of all, express my deep sense of gratitude, indebtedness and acknowledgement to my supervisor, Prof. Alok Sen of Assam University. The work would never have been possible and completed without his guidance, cooperation, suggestions and encouragement. I will be ever grateful to him for the teaching I have got as a young researcher from him during my course of study in this university.

I acknowledge the authors, researchers and institutions whose works were been reviewed in the course of this study. The knowledge gathered from these works has created the basic foundation of this work. I visited various libraries including the Central Library of Assam University during the course of this study. I thank the concerned staff and officers of those libraries.

The field survey, particularly collecting information from secondary sources is always a difficult task for an individual researcher involved in research work on such complex areas as rural development. I received much help from the staff of various offices under the Ministry of Rural Development, Govt. of Assam during the period of data collection. I thank them for their generous cooperation. I am specially indebted to the Project Director, DRDA of Cachar district, the Manager of the district MIS and the Block Development Officers of Cachar district for sparing their valuable time and extending their hands of cooperation during the course of the study.
Last but not the least, I express my deep sense of gratitude to my parents and elder brother for their encouragement and support in various forms during the course of the study. I also thank my friends and well wishers for their encouragement for conducting the study.
