Acknowledgements

This thesis would have remained incomplete but for the encouragement, assistance and co-operation extended to me by many individuals and a few of them deserve special mention.

At the outset, I would like to place on record my deep sense of gratitude and indebtedness to Dr. R. Kothandaraman, Deputy Director, Mycology and Plant Pathology Division, Rubber Research Institute of India, Kottayam, for undertaking the laborious task of guiding me with his concrete suggestions, creative criticisms, untiring advice and lofty inspiration throughout the period of research and preparation of this thesis.

I have deep appreciation and regards to Dr. M. R. Sethuraj, Director of Research and Dr. K. Jayaratnam, Joint Director of Research, R. R. I. I., Kottayam, for providing the necessary facilities to conduct the research work and also for their encouragements. I express my profound gratitude to them.

I greatly acknowledge the valuable suggestions and advice rendered by Dr. D. J. Bagyaraj, Professor of Agricultural Microbiology, University of Agricultural Sciences, Bangalore, for improving the quality of this work.

Dr. Jacob Mathew, Dr. C. Kuruvilla Jacob, Mrs. Annakutty Joseph, Mr. Sabu P. Idicula, Mrs. V. K. Rajalakshmi, Miss. Geetha Jose and all other officers and staff in Mycology and Plant Pathology Division, R. R. I. I., Kottayam deserve special mention for their creative suggestions, timely help and cooperation. I am grateful to each one of them.

I am thankful to Dr. Sushilkumar Dey, Deputy Director, R. R. I. I. Research Complex, North East Region, Agartala, for his co-operation in conducting the work on photosynthesis. The assistance rendered by Shri. Sreeranganathan, Artist/Photographer, and Smt. Accamma Korah, Senior Librarian, R. R. I. I. is also acknowledged.

My special thanks are due to M/s Copy Write, Ettumanoor, for carrying out the word processing and photocopying of this thesis in an appreciable manner.

But for the inspiration, encouragement and assistance rendered by my husband Advocate Abraham Mathew, I would not have completed this work. My kids, Arun, Anil and Merlin deserve special mention for their patience and sacrifices during the period of this work. The constant and unwavering support and faith showered on me by my mother, brothers, sisters, sisters-in-law, uncle Georgekutty and members of his family, despite all the trials and tribulations, continually amazes me. I hope this thesis would remain a testament to their support and faith.

I cannot claim that this thesis is free from errors, omissions and digressions, and deformities if any, that remains are mine and mine alone.

Kochuthresiamma Joseph