ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The work presented in this thesis would not have been possible without my close association with many people who were always there when I needed them the most. I take this opportunity to acknowledge them and extend my sincere gratitude for helping me to make this Ph.D. thesis a possibility.

If all the trees were pens and oceans were ink, the praise of almighty ALLAH (Subhanahu wata’ala), the ultimate source of knowledge to mankind, would never end. I therefore, start my acknowledgement as a word of thank to almighty ALLAH (Subhanahu wa ta’ala), WHO bestowed me with the potential and ability to contribute a drop of material to the existing ocean of scientific knowledge.

At this moment of accomplishment, I would like to start with the person who made the biggest difference in my life, my gracious mentor Prof. (Dr.) Mohammad Anis, The Chairman, Department of Botany, AMU for his incessant guidance, perspicacious thoughts, constructive criticism, wonderful analysis, enthusiasm, inspiration, and his great efforts to explain things clearly and simply. He thinks that social change is central to intellectual work and scholars have a responsibility to use the privileges of academia to imagine and create a better world. He came to my rescue with his intelligent ideas, thought provoking discussions and comprehensive understanding to help me sail through the initial fumblings. His attitude of living every moment as it comes, making serendipitous observation and converting them to new possibilities, correlating ideas and understanding the obvious has helped me to come a long way and will always guide me in future. He made me realized what I had only heard, “When the going gets tough, the tough get going”.

I would also like to thank Dr. Anwar Shahzad (Asstt. Prof.), Department of Botany, AMU, for his advice, motivation, critical appreciation and valuable suggestions throughout my work.

My special words of thanks should also go to my senior, Dr. Naseem Ahmad, (Young Scientist CST-UP) for always being so kind, helpful and motivating. He has always taught me an important aspect of life, that, “goodness can never be defied and good human beings can never be denied”. I owe a lot of appreciation and gratitude to his untiring help, positive outlook towards research, constant encouragement, cooperation and support which kept me going ahead.

I felicitously mark off the sincere help of Dr. Iram Siddique (Asstt. Prof.), King Saud University, Riyadh who has been a source of moral support to me and have extended her helping hands without fail.

I would also like to thank some people from early days of my research tenure. Dr. Mohammad Faisal (Asstt. Prof.), King Saud University, Riyadh and Dr. Md. Kashif Husain Research Officer (CCRUM, Hyderabad) were among those who kept me going at the beginning. I am most thankful for their silent encouragement and exhilarative paean.
