"Thou that has given so much to me
Give one thing more- a grateful heart;
Not thankful when it pleaseth me;
As if thy blessings had spare days;
But such a heart whose pulse may be thy praise."
-George Herbert

Both abundance and lack exist simultaneously in our lives as parallel realities. Reflecting upon the present blessings and being grateful for the abundance that is present in the form of family, friends, work and personal pursuits is the conscious choice of the individual.

At this moment of accomplishment, my deepest gratitude is for God, the Almighty, for all blessings showered.

I express my profound sense of reverence to my mentor Dr. Sulabha Natraj for her constant support, motivation and untiring help during the course of action. Her passion, guidance and discipline have been indispensable to my growth as a teacher over these past years. Her in-depth knowledge on a broad spectrum of varied aspects has been extremely beneficial for me. She has always been a catalyst for boosting my morale. Her critical remarks and extensive discussion around my work have always been very helpful in improving my skills. Being an educational leader by herself, she believed in the dictum that "the task of a leader is to create more leaders rather than followers". She inspired my efforts believing in this tenet.

I am highly indebted to Prin. (Dr.) N.R. Patel for being the constant source of motivation for the present study.

My lifelong friends Alka and Jayshree made a well-orchestrated symposium for me to enrich my research experience. It gives me great pleasure to acknowledge their continued friendship, support, chats, laughs and cups of tea along the way. I cherish the time we have spent thinking together and look forward to all our future collaborations.

I am thankful to all my colleagues at M.B.P.C. for providing a stimulating and fun filled environment.

It is my pleasure to acknowledge teachers of M.Ed. department for their timely help during the research work.

I gratefully acknowledge Prof. Ramesh Kothari for his valuable suggestion and feedback. I also thank Dr. Nandita Nagar for her constructive feedback.

I also express my sincere gratitude to all the faculty members of Waymade College Of Education for their support. My special thanks to Mohiniben and Rohitbhai for their motivation.

Life is built on a tapestry of support from one cell to another, from one relationship to another, from one generation to another. Without support we are unable to unfold our unique DNA. I owe a huge measure of gratitude to my parents for their unflagging love, limitless care and support throughout my life. My parents have contributed a lot towards my upbringing and making me what I am. Their unflinching concern and conviction have always inspired me.

Collaboration is the hallmark of any worthy endeavour. I extend my thanks to my sisters Beena and Jagruti for helping me to remain focused on my studies. Both of them lent me their unique blend of persistence and gentility.

I thank my brother Chintan for his help in computer work and my brother-in-law Himanshu for carefully reading the proof.

It is a pleasant task to express my thanks to all those who have contributed in many ways to the success of this study and made it an unforgettable experience for me.
