ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I feel immense pleasure in expressing my deep sense of gratitude to my esteemed supervisor Dr.(Smt.) Lakshmi Misra Professor (Retd.) University College of Education, Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar (M.P.) for her initial motivation in planning the frame work of the study, constant encouragement and valuable guidance without which it would have not been possible to complete this task.

I am grateful to Dr. R.P. Rohner, the propounder of the theory, whom I have the privilege to meet during his visit to India in the Department of Psychology, Sagar University in the year 1979. As a matter of fact, my personal meeting and talk with Dr. Rohner inspired and stimulated me to work on the present topic.

I must acknowledge with grateful thanks for Dr. H.S. Bais, Acting Principal, University College of Education, Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar for encouragement, help and guidance.

I can not forget to express my gratitude to Dr. B.P. Shrivastava, Librarian, University College of Education, Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar for his encouragement and suggestions.

I am also thankful to Shri H.P. Khare (Retd. Asstt. Professor), Dr. M.D. Deoskar and Mr. Ravi Akre, Research Scholar, University College of Education, Dr. Harisingh Gour Vishwavidyalaya, Sagar, for Suggestions.
I am thankful to the Director, S.C.E.R.T., Bhopal for permitting me to carry out this present study, and I am thankful to Mr. G. P. Richhariya, Acting Principal, District Institute of Education and Training, Sagar and Staff for Co-operation.

I express a deep sense of gratitude to all Head Masters and staff of various schools of Sagar Division for Co-operation in collecting data for the present study.

I am thankful to my father and mother Mr. A.G. Sane and Smt. Pramila Sane for their blessings. I also express my sincere thanks to my father-in-law and mother-in-law Mr. K.V. Chitale and Smt. Sushila Chitale, for their affectionate behaviour and blessings.

No words are adequate enough to express my deep sense of gratitude to my husband Dr. V.K. Chitale, Professor of Chemistry, Govt. P.G. College, Damoh (M.P.) for day-to-day progress of the work. My sincere thanks are due to my daughter Km. Vibha and my son Vivek for their support and Co-operation in the present study.

Finally I am thankful to Kumar Typing Institute, 5, Civil Lines, Sagar for clean typing.
