ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It will be in the fitness of things to record my deep sense of appreciation and gratitude to my revered teacher, Dr. Atmanand Misra, ex-Director of Public Instruction, Madhya Pradesh and now Dean of the Faculty of Education, University of Saugor. It was he, who nurtured my initial interest in the subject and channelled my basic concepts along the proper path. At the end of the year 1962 he inspired me to undertake the two topics in Education i.e., Role of Local Enterprise or Local Bodies in Education. In view of the present day trends, I opted for Local Bodies in Education and it is merely due to his foresight in the depth of the subject, his constant guidance and encouragement which enabled me to undertake this investigation as to reach a stage of completeness and presentability after having put in about five years of strenuous work.

Although, it is impossible to make adequate acknowledgments to all whom it is due but certain people deserve special mention. Primarily I am grateful to the Librarian of National Archives, Delhi, Prentiya Shikshan Mahavidyalaya, Jabalpur; National Council Library, Delhi; and National Library, Calcutta, who at times extended their best cooperation to me.

I am indebted to the learned authors from whose books I have taken all liberty to quote in support of my contentions and views expressed here in my thesis. It is the inspiration from those works that has been inducing so many to uncover some hidden facts or to postulate some new things for the benefit of humanity at large, and I am proud to say that from the same inspiration received from these masters, I could complete this thesis.
