First and foremost my gratitude goes to God Almighty for all His blessings and giving me strength to be persistent in completing this research. Next I would like to express my sincere gratitude to my supervisor Prof. (Dr.) Ajeya Jha (Head, Department of Management Studies, Sikkim Manipal Institute of Technology) for guiding me throughout my research technically and methodologically. It was not only his guidance but also his encouraging words that helped me a lot in being undeterred till I achieved my goal.

Along with this I would like to thank all the members of Research Protocol Evaluation Committee (RPEC) and University Research Committee (URC) for recommending this research work. I extend my gratitude to Brig (Dr) S. S. Pabla, Former Vice Chancellor, SMU, and Brig (Dr) S. N. I acknowledge Dr. Vandana Suhag, Former Registrar Academics, SMU, for helping me out in the initial formalities of this research work and her constant support and encouragement. I also thank Dr. Ashish Sharma, Registrar, SMU, for his efforts in the final evaluation process of this thesis. My sincere thanks are conveyed to Prof. (Dr.) M. K. Ghose, Former Dean (R & D) SMIT and present Dean Academics for assessing my work during the progress seminars from critiques point of view, which has considerably enriched my thesis. The expertise provided by Prof A. K. Roy, present Dean (R & D) during the final stages of this thesis and his emphasis on quality research work spurred me on to give my best. My thanks are due to Dr. Sangeeta Jha, Dean (Students’ Affairs) for her valuable inputs and guidance. I am grateful to Dr. Deepika Tiwari, Asst. Prof., Dept. of Management Studies, for all her help in coordinating my departmental presentations and official formalities. I am also thankful to Dr. Manjushree Mishra, Asst. Prof., Dept. of Management Studies, for helping me out in the credit course of this research.

My family members have always been my pillars of support in all important events of my life. No words can describe my gratitude towards them. My father had been my guiding spirit since my childhood and my mother made me understand the importance of personal sacrifices for higher goals. I am infinitely indebted to my in-laws in supporting me in all my ventures. My husband, Brig SB Singh, has always held my hand and supported me in everything I take up.
He has always believed in me and was always there to help me out through all the rough patches during this research process. Without him I would have never succeeded in this venture. My daughter Mridul Singh, Senior HR Executive in Wipro, and my son Akshay Singh, Software engineer in TCS, have been constantly encouraging and inspiring me to carry on my work. The completion of this thesis is dedicated entirely to my husband and children. It was their untiring and unconditional love that helped me in finishing my research work. They were not only my strength but they also helped me in scoring, compiling and feeding the data for this research work. My brother, Maj. Gen. Dushyant Singh, who has authored several chapters in various books, guided me in writing my research papers and has been a constant source of inspiration in every aspect of my life. I am extremely thankful to all my family members and relatives for their best wishes and blessings which paved my way to success.

Last but not the least my heartfelt and deepest gratitude to the chairmen, directors and the principals of the institutes (mentioned in Appendix-I) for granting permission to conduct the study in their establishments and also the faculty members and the students who participated in this research, for their contribution and time. Without their support and cooperation this study could have never been successful. It would be a remiss of me if I did not mention the tremendous help extended to me by (Dr.) Lt. Col. Bharat Kumar, (Dr.) Maj. Sandeep Sharma and Col. Sanjay Babbar in collecting the data from the various colleges in different cities of UP. It would have been a herculean task for me doing it alone as it needed frequent visits to remind and collect the questionnaires from the faculty members. They deserve my special thanks.

I am also thankful to all the researchers and scholars who have worked in the field of emotional intelligence as my work draws inspiration from them and their studies have served as the foundation for my research. Efforts of many people have gone into this work. Therefore, I thank all others whose names I may have inadvertently missed out to mention. I apologies for the same and credit them for their contributions. I gratefully acknowledge their help which indeed is immeasurable. In the end, I once again, whole-heartedly thank all those wonderful people, who helped me in many ways to complete this research work.
