ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

My debt to late Dr. P.L. Sharma cannot be adequately acknowledged. This work became possible only because of the painstaking material, valuable and every time available guidance of respected late Dr. P.L. Sharma. I use this auspicious opportunity to express my deepest gratitude to him, who helped me at every stage of my reading and writing by his valuable advice and kind guidance inspite of the great pressure of work he had. I offer my tribute of cordial thanks to him, and I am grateful to him from the depth of my heart for he always patiently gave me his sincere guidance and prevented me from getting off the track with his corrections and timely guidance. It was he who framed my work and gave the proper form and consistency to my thesis. I owe all my success as a student of Mathematics to him, without his enduring and endearing help at every stages it would have been impossible for a student like me who know nothing of Mathematics to marshall my thoughts and to submit this work so exhaustively and within the limits of time. His painstaking guidance steered my work and it is because of he and he alone that my thesis could be completed by me-a raw and ignorant student of Mathematics. My words fail to convey fully the gratitude which my heart feels for him. I am fortunate enough to get his guidance but the cruel hands of fate took him away from me while my thesis was about to be concluded.

This study owes a great encouragement from Dr.B.K.Sharma who supervised my work. I offer my thanks to him for his subtle guidance. My words fail to convey fully the gratitude which my heart feels to him. He has guided and moulded my academic career towards a better future.
I express my thankfulness to Mr. M.R. Yadav who assisted me in technical works on Computer. He has cheerfully added the burden of assisting me to his already staggering load of responsibilities. This thesis has seen the light of day, due to his sportive venture. Mr. D.R. Sahu, Mr. B.S. Thakur is in a way, the driving spirit behind this work. But for their constant encouragement I would not have ventured to undertake writing this thesis.

None the least, I am specially indebted to my mother Smt. Krishna Dewangan and father late Shri Harilal Dewangan and other members of the family who are always a step forward in inspiring and cooperating with me all through my life as a scholar.

A man is destined to be indebted to his wife in one way or the other and I am indebted to my wife Smt. Chandrika Dewangan in a very special way. Whenever my courage and patience threaten to fail, she revived them in by her love and affection and her readiness to help me in any modest way she could.

I am highly obliged to all of my friends who helped me to attain this difficult destination.

(CHAMPA LAL DEWANGAN)