College life is an important stage in every person’s life. For the proper psychological growth of youth social resources play a pivotal role. The present study entitled as "The impact of socio-economic status on happiness, hope and resilience of undergraduates" is undertaken to explore the impact of SES on psychological states of Indian youth. For this purpose multi group design was used to find out the impact of Socio-economic status on happiness, hope and resilience of undergraduates. A sample of 250 youth of both sexes was selected from different colleges of Faridabad, Delhi and Ghazibad U.P on the basis of purposive sampling technique. The age range of youth was 18-23 years. The dissertation has been divided into five chapters. A brief summary of the study is also given at the end of this dissertation. Appendices schedule used in the study are annexed after the summary.

With a profound sense of gratitude I acknowledge the pivotal role that Dr. (Mrs.) Punam Midha, Associate Professor, Dept. of Psychology, M.D. University, Rohtak played in completing of this dissertation. She was not only stimulating and proficient as a Supervisor but also extremely in words my feeling of gratitude for her invaluable assistance and gratitude without which it would have been very difficult to accomplish this work.

Thanks a due to all other staff members of the Department of Psychology, M.D. University, Rohtak, for their co-operation, encouragement and valuable suggestion from time to time.
I wish to pay my thanks to Mr. Rajesh Sachdeva, Associate Professor in R.L.A College, Delhi, University, South Campus, New Delhi for extending help in analyzing the data statistically.

I am grateful to all the staff members of Library, Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak. I convey my deep sense of gratitude to my parents whose blessing helped me in completing this work successfully, and my son, Nitin for his cooperation.

Finally, I must not omit to express my sincere appreciation for the excellent typing assistance and hard work of the person who completed the work in time.

Arun Kumar