Acknowledgements

First and foremost, I am grateful to the Almighty Allah for giving me the opportunity, strength and perseverance to embark on such a difficult task and complete it to my satisfaction. Without His blessings and grace, it would not have been possible for me to bring this thesis to an end.

I consider myself extremely fortunate in having been given the opportunity to work under the aegis of Prof. P. L. Sharma, Head, Deptt of Pharmaceutical Medicine. It was indeed an enriching experience to learn under him. He is a true gentleman and a true guiding star for all his students. I do not have words enough to convey my respect and regard for him. I shall always remember and cherish the three years I spent studying under him.

I would like to thank Dr. Tousif Monif, Director, Clinical Pharmacology and Pharmacokinetics, Ranbaxy Research Laboratories, Gurgaon, for guiding me in the formulation of my project and letting me work at the facilities of CPP for my project work. I am extremely grateful to Dr. Monica Tandon, Head, Clinical Pharmacology Unit, erstwhile at Majeedia Hospital, Hamdard Nagar, for being supportive and encouraging during my study period. I shall always remember the times she came to my defence and help whenever I encountered hurdles in my project work.

I take this opportunity to thank Dr. S. Ahmad, Vice Chancellor, Jamia Hamdard, for producing a conducive and encouraging environment in which I could carry out my project work successfully.

I would also like to thank Dr. S. A. Khan, Dean, F/O Pharmacy, Jamia Hamdard, for always being supportive and helpful in the conduct of our research work.

I would like to thank all the personnel of Clinical Pharmacology Unit, Majeedia Hospital, and Clinical Pharmacology and Pharmacokinetics, Gurgaon, for being extremely supportive and cooperative in my project work.

Some people will always be remembered for just always being indescribably encouraging and extremely good guides. I take this opportunity to thank Dr. N. Saha, Head, Clinical Development, and Mr. Arjun Roy, Head Biostatistician, MACK, Ranbaxy, for being good teachers and helpful mentors.

I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to Dr. Amit Marwah, Dr. Sachin Mehra, Dr. Naushab, Dr. Ranjan and Dr. Pankaj Bablani, for helping me in my project work. Certain people deserve a special vote of thanks from me. They were indispensable and indeed, the life-source of my project work. Sarfraz Sir, Naeem Sir, Asif Wahab, Nizam, Lalit, Vinod, Robert, Ekta, Seena, Litty, Annie 1 and Annie 2 (as they are affectionately called in the Unit), Mahinder, Sanjay, Ramesh, Brijesh, Naresh and Mahaveer ji, all pitched in and contributed to the take-off and finishing of my project. I wish to God that He bless them.
This project would have been impossible to conduct had it not been for guidance from my seniors- Dr. Tausif Ahmed, Dr. Madhuri V., and Dr. D. M. Rao, whose guidance and words of wisdom were a great help in averting disasters and formulating a perfect project, besides encouraging me all along to persevere.

A very special thanks goes out to Mr. Arshad Khuroo, Group Leader, CPP, Ranbaxy, Gurgaon. Without his able and generous guidance and help, it would have been impossible to finish this project work. I would also like to thank Mr. Vikesh Srivastav and Mr. Ramesh Jain, Biostatisticians, for giving helpful tips to improve my project and also carrying out the statistical analysis of the project. My heartfelt gratitude goes out to Mr. Susershan and Mr. Sudhakar, for helping me with the pharmacokinetic aspects of my project work.

My heartfelt gratitude goes out to Mona Dhaliwal, who helped me during my project work, and was also a charming companion at Ranbaxy.

I have spent nearly three years in this PhD. My days here all this time have been made smooth and enjoyable because of my batchmates- Abdul Salam Nazmi, Dr. Sunita Sharma and Tanvir, who were so much fun and genuinely good people. I am particularly thankful to Abdul Salam for helping me in finishing my project work. Later on we were joined by Ashish, Azhar, Javed, Dr. Amit, Tanveer Wani, Muzzaffar and Dr. Tarandeep who added liveliness to the atmosphere. All of these colleagues were instrumental in conduct of my project work, and I shall always remember them as good people and cooperative colleagues. May God bless them all.

This piece is incomplete without a mention of my friends. I take this chance to remember Ambrin Fatima, my insufferable friend, confidant and rather underaged mentor, who is miles away from me, but, never fails to set me right should I wander from the right path. She is always fondly remembered and her friendship is one of the biggest assets to me. My friend Mymoona Akhter, who is much wiser than me and to whom I can turn to should I encounter any problem for words of wisdom. I would like to thank Ashar Jabeen, an enduring and strong woman, whose gentle manners, humility and perseverance even at the worst of times never fails to amaze me. I feel fortunate in knowing Geeta Maurya. She is one of the gentlest creatures I have ever met, yet her strength of character and long-wearing patience are an example for anyone to follow. All these people have been pillars of strength to me. I hope and pray that our friendship remains as strong in the future as it is today.

Some of my friendships have stood the test of time and circumstances. I would like to thank Dr. Noopur, Sashwati, Sethu and Rina for always being there when I needed them and being encouraging and cheerful. Their optimism and cheerfulness infected me as well at times and helped me overcome my bad spells. I am also grateful to Monika Zutshi, Yogesh, Vivek, Sandeep, Pratika, Archan, Pragya, Sachin Rana, Manish- who were all cheerful and supportive colleagues at CPP, and whom I would fondly remember for their assistance, aid and companionship.
This piece is incomplete without a tribute to my family- My husband, my father, my mother and my two brothers. They are a God-send grace. They have seen my worst and my best, they have been my pillars of strength, my own oasis of peace and calm in a malignant world. I am sure I could not have reached anywhere in life without their love, support and encouragement. They are the best family ever. I wish to God that we remain as united, happy and peaceful as ever. I must especially mention my husband, Mr. Salam Hydrose, for enduring my days of pessimism and skepticism and standing through thick and thin with me. I also wish to thank my in-laws for their supportive and encouraging attitude.

I end this little tribute with a final word of gratitude to Allah, the most Merciful and Benevolent, for showering his blessings on me.
