Acknowledgement

I express my deepest sense of gratitude to Rajarshri Udai Pratap Singh Judeo for building this seat of learning which has made the dream of excellence in education of many come true.

With immense pleasure and profound sense of gratitude, I express my sincere thanks to Dr. D.K. Singh, Assistant Professor, Department of Horticulture, Udai Pratap Autonomous College, Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh, Chairman of my advisory committee for his inspiring guidance, generous attitude and valuable scrutiny throughout the investigation and preparation of the manuscript.

It is my sublime privilege to extend my sincere gratitude to Dr. N. Kumar, Scientist, VPKAS (ICAR), Almora, Co-supervisor of my PhD programme for his kind initiation, valuable advice, cordial discussions and constructive criticisms which helped me to overcome every problem that came in the way during the period of the investigation and preparation of the manuscript.

My heartfelt thanks to the Principal, Udai Pratap Autonomous College, Varanasi for his kind encouragement and the Head, Department of Horticulture, Udai Pratap Autonomous College, Varanasi for his cooperation and support. I am deeply indebted to Dr. Alok Kumar Singh, Assistant Professor and Head, Department of Plant Pathology for his whole hearted cooperation and generous help.

It is my delectation to acknowledge my deepest gratitude to the Director Vivekananda Parvatiya Krishi Anusandhan Sansthan (ICAR), Almora, Uttarakhand for providing necessary field and laboratory facilities during the period of the present study. I am highly obliged and feel happy to extend my cordial thanks to all the scientific and technical staff of the Institute for their constant help and co-operation.

Words are too less to thank my husband Dr. S.N. Sushil for boosting my moral and for his ever willing help throughout the period of work. It would have been impossible to complete my study without his help. A word of appreciation goes for my son Suchintan for his love, support and patience.

No words will suffice to reimburse the infallible love showered by my parents and in-laws without whose blessings and inspiration this yearning could not have materialized. My heartfelt thanks to all my friends and relatives for their affection and companionship.

Last but not the least I thank the almighty God for his blessings which has led to this achievement.

Varanasi
May, 2012

(SUMITA ROY)
Authorress