I wish to start by thanking Almighty for giving me strength and courage for constantly devoting time to my research even during tough times. I owe a deep debt of gratitude to my supervisor, Dr. A.K. Sharma, for accepting me as his Ph.D student, fulfilling my keen desire. I thank him for his comprehensive guidance for this thesis. I am greatly indebted for all his invaluable suggestions, constant support and patience for shaping up the research towards the goal. His insurmountable knowledge and insight inputs helped me enlarge my visions and refine my ideas into ones that could be elucidated clearly and concisely. Materialization of my research effort would not have been possible without his contributions.

I am eternally grateful for the assistance of many people around me who directly or indirectly helped me to move ahead with my research work.

My special acknowledgement goes to my Papa and Mummy for giving me a platform to achieve my dreams. I offer my special thanks to my husband, Mohinder, for providing me all support throughout my studies with every possible contribution and a positive attitude. He has always been understanding and supportive. I pay my heartiest thanks to my lovely son Aviral and daughter Anuva for their love and consistent support in concentrating on my goal. They have been a great inspiration to my life.

I also appreciate the understanding and encouragement from my friends Col(retd) Satish Vijra, J. K. Kapoor, Rajiv Khanduja, Vanita Aggarwal and Rimpi Mehani for their continuous motivation and inspiration. They always are my strong and reliable support.

I would like to express my deepest and sincere appreciation to my friend and colleague Smita Rajpal for her constant encouragement, helpful comments and support during my Ph.D studies.

(PARIZA KAMBOJ)