ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

During the work on this thesis, I have benefited from a lot of communication with many people, who have provided inspiration and motivation. This dissertation would not be complete without thanking all the wonderful people who assisted the writer in fulfilling the requirements for this degree.

First of all, I had the great fortune to study under the supervision of Dr. M. S. Sakthivel Murugan, Principal, D.B. Jain College, Chennai, Tamil Nadu, India. He always inspired me to generate new ideas, and pointed me in the right direction. I also express gratitude to my outstanding dissertation co-supervisor, Dr. A. R. Aryasri, Director, School of Management Studies, JNTUH, Hyderabad, A.P., India. He fully supported me, provided guidance, and spent an enormous amount of time reviewing my study, and encouraged me to become a higher level scholar. I also owe many thanks to Dr. K. G. Jayaprakash, as my statistical adviser. He guided my research design, provided exceptional advice, and gave me helpful comments.

I am indebted to my uncle Prof. Dr. S. Viswanathan, (Retd.), Central University, Hyderabad, A.P., India for always helping in any matters when needed; in particular, I want to thank him for his engagement at the end of the dissertation to read and make comments on the manuscript.

My wholehearted thanks to Prof. Dr. G. S. Kandasami for his initial encouragement and support in this research endeavour. My wholehearted thanks are due to Shri. Radhakrisha for his continual support and encouragement throughout.

Also my gratitude goes to Dr. K. Sivaram, Principal, Dr. K. Dharmalingam, Dean, Dr. R. M. Suresh, Vice Principal & Head-Computer Science and Engineering, R.M.D. Engineering College, Tiruvallur, Tamil Nadu, India for motivating and supporting me in completing this study. I have greatly benefitted from the interesting conversations of my colleagues at Management Studies Department, R.M.D. Engineering College, Tiruvallur, Tamil Nadu, India which helped structure my thesis.

My sincere thanks are due to Prof. P. Neelakantan and Prof. R. Nadanasabai for having been a source of inspiration to commence and complete this study.

I would like to thank my family and friends for inspiration and encouragement, and especially my spouse Gayathri and my sons Sankar and Roshan for their patience.

I dedicate this dissertation to my dearest father and mother, who have always given me continuous prayer, support, and encouragement and have been the primary inspirational source of my life and this scholarly endeavour.

Finally, the one above all of us, the omnipresent God, for answering my prayers, for giving me the strength to plod on, thank you so much Dear Lord.

R. SRIKANTH