Acknowledgement

This entire work could be completed due to the help, support and encouragement from many people. Although, it is not possible to mention the names of all, I take this opportunity to thank those who have been my pillar of strength.

My heartfelt thanks to my guide Dr. Mrinalini Purandare, for her very encouraging presence, all the time. She allowed me to move through my ideas, never imposing her views, being very patient and polite, yet subtly demanding high standards of work. Working with her, was a very comfortable and enjoyable experience.

I also take this opportunity to thank my Coach, Shree Uday V. Deshpande, who helped me to be patient, all through the one year intervention period, when the students were getting trained and also during the entire period of this doctoral work. He was a major inspiring force in helping me decide a research area, in the not so much researched field of Traditional Indian Physical Culture.

The entire statistical analysis of the pre-testing was done by Ms. Supriya Nair. The statistical analysis of the post-testing was done by Dr. Deepak Mathew. Their command on the subject, making themselves available anytime, when I required their help, the ease with which they clarified the concepts, made this entire complex process of statistical analysis, easy and very interesting.

My special thanks to Dr. Urvashi Shah, Neuropsychologist, K.E.M. Hospital, for giving me time from her very busy schedule, to teach me ‘Neuropsychological Assessment’ and readily giving me all the necessary material for testing. She implanted the germ of conducting a research with intervention for one year, which is not really common, and although, I was very apprehensive initially, I am really grateful to her now, for showing me this path.

I thank my Sport Institution, Shree Samartha Vyayam Mandir, Dadar, for allowing me to conduct this research study in their premises and on their students and extending all the facilities required – the Ropes, Mats, infrastructure facilities and everything that was necessary to run the training smoothly. My thanks to all the Mallakhamb Coaches of the Institution, who were enthusiastically ever willing to help and assist me in the training.

The testing of each participant took almost two hours. This was patiently done by my students from D. G. Ruparel College. Some of them also helped me in scoring the tests. I am short of words to thank them all. I also thank the College authorities, for allowing me to use the infrastructure facilities of the College to do the testing.

My family, friends, colleagues, all contributed in a big way during this entire academic endeavor. My special thanks to all of them.

Special thanks to my wonderful group of participants and their parents, who did not waver from their commitment of attending regularly for the training, in spite of examinations, vacations, other family engagements and personal work. This research would not have been possible without this fantastic cooperation from them.
