My sincere thanks are due to Prof. Sugitha S., professor and chairman in Department of Studies in History at Manasagangotri University of Mysore, Mysore, for her support and sympathetic sense of handling official affairs during the course of this study.

I am grateful to Prof. Sebastian Joseph, professor in Department of Studies in History at Manasagangotri University of Mysore, Mysore, who provided me with remarkable guidelines to start with and my introductory relations with Department of Studies in History at University of Mysore took place through him.

I owe especial thanks to respectable dean of Ferdowsi University of Mashahd, presently Assistant of Administrative and Financial Affairs at that university, Dr. Tahmoorespor, and Dr. Rezaee who compassionately cooperated with me in accomplishing official mission and also my dear colleagues in Department of Educational Assistance at Veterinary Medicine College, especially Dr. Muhammadi who was a helpfully encouraged me in following up my studies.
I kindly acknowledge assistances provided by officials of Noor Microfilm Center in Delhi whose valuable efforts in conserving common recorded heritage of Iran and India are really appreciable especially efforts of Dr. Khwaje Piri, director of this center who assisted me very much with providing digital copies of my required books. I also thank managers of the valuable website Noormagz whose scientific essays greatly helped me in my field studies.

I also appreciate assistances of officials in the library of Aligarh Muslim University and Great Library of Osmania University in Hyderabad as well as Salar Jung Museum who gave me the opportunity to use the available Persian books.

I am grateful to the faculties of Department of Studies in History at Manasagangotri University of Mysore, Mysore, for helping me with completion of my thesis.

I am indebted to my parents for providing me with the chance to study and also for their constant support and encouragement and I kiss their hands with all due respect and appreciation. I acknowledge my brother and sister for their spiritual support of my parents.

I express my whole-hearted thanks to my father and mother-in-law and also to my brothers and sisters-in-law whose cooperation paved the way for my travel and study in India. I sincerely appreciate their support of me and my family. I am indebted to them for their help, love and affection bestowed upon me in the whole course of my study.
I am truly grateful to my dear wife, Razieh Zarrin who patiently accepted hardships and difficulties of parting from family and despite all troubles and inconveniences, stood firm and with her inexpressible love and sacrifice was my pillar of strength and encouragement for me to reach this level of academic studies. I thank my dear children Ali and Asal who were my hopes to carry on and tolerated my absence. I dedicate this thesis to them as the result of my works during these years and hope I could have been an appropriate example for them to achieve high levels of scientific studies.

Several individuals and institutions have helped me throughout the course of my study by generously sharing documents, views and other reference materials. I am thankful to all of them.
