BIBLIOGRAPHY:
BIBLIOGRAPHY:

30. Clutterbuck D, (2013), Time to focus coaching on the team, Industrial and commercial training, Vol 45, No.1 , Page 18-22

77. Goldsmith Marshell (2008): What got you here will not take you there - How successful people even can become more successful by coaching. Profile books.

78. Goldsmith Marshell, Laurene, L. Yons: (2005), Coaching for leadership: The practice of leadership coaching from the world’s greatest coaches. Wiley Default

89. Harvard Business Essentials (2004): Coaching and Mentioning: How to develop top talent and achieve stronger performance. Harvard Business Press,

92. Howard Morgen, Phil Harkins, Marshell Goldsmith; (2004): The Art and Practice of Leadership Coaching. Wiley Default

96. John Whitmore 2004: Coaching for performance, a practical guide to growing your own skills.

101. Kay D, (2013), Language and behavior profile as method to be used in a coaching process, Poznan university of economic review, Volume 13, number 3

124. Olivero G, (1997), Executive coaching as a transfer of training tool: Effects on productivity in a public agency, Public personnel management, Vol 26, No.4

126. MacKenna D and Davis S, (2009), Hidden in the plain sight: The active ingredients of the executive coaching, Industrial and Organisational psychology, 2, 244-260

127. MacKenna D and Davis S, (2009), What is the active ingredients equation for success in executive coaching, Industrial and organizational psychology, 2, 297-304

135. Moen F and Allgood E, (2009), Coaching and the effect on self efficacy, Organisation development Journal, Vol.27, No.4

138. Mukherjee Sarbon (2008). Behavioral change process in coaching relationships. The international Journal of Coaching in organizations (IJCO) USA (V-2)

146. Orenstein R, (2006), Measuring executive coaching efficacy? The answer was right here all the time, Consulting psychology journal: Practice and research, Vol.58, No.2, 106-116

159. Perkins R, (2009), How executive coaching can change leader behavior and improve meeting effectiveness: An exploratory study, Consulting psychology and journal, Vol. 61, No. 4, Page 298-318

186. Susan Batlley (2006), Coached to Lead: How to achieve extraordinary results with an Executive Coach. Wiley Default,

