ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

To thanks and acknowledge all those who have helped me during my work on this thesis would obviously be impossible. So here I will limit myself to express my sincere thanks and gratitude to all those who have bestowed favors on me both great and small.

First of all, I would like express my deep and sincere gratitude and respect to my spiritual masters, Most Ven Thich Tanh Thiet, Most Ven Thich Nhu Dien.

My indebtedness extends further to my sponsorial master, Ven, Thich Nu Dieu Khong, Ven, Thich Nu Vien Minh, for instructing me on the direction of Dharma, who had initial suggested this advanced study.

My deep indebtedness is due to my supervisor, Dr. Gurjit Singh Mann, for his enthusiastic guidance and the aid he has granted me both now and previously. His devotion and kindness has made a great impression on me. I am also grateful to Dr. Rajesh Ranjan, who spared his valuable time whenever I approached for his suggestions and comments at every step. I am really indebted to him.

I am also grateful to Heads of the Department of Philosophy, Punjabi University Patiala; I would like to take the opportunity thanks the teachers of the Department of Philosophy.

I am thankful to the staff of the Punjabi University Library, who provided some of the important books for my research work, and to the staff of the Library of Tibetan of the referential material on my subject.
My heart thanks are extended to my Parents, my father Le Van Tiet, my uncle Nguyen Van Luc, my brother Dhammika and sister Sujata, Ms; Lieu Duyen devotes who, in various ways, have financially and thus enabled me to complete my research work.

I would also like to express my sincere gratitude to all the Buddhist lay devotees who, in various ways, have financially supported and thus enabled me to complete my research work.

Last, a deep sense of appreciation is also due to all the Brothers and Sisters in Dhamma who helped and encouraged me during my study in India.
