Acknowledgement

It is a fact that any accomplishment in life in any area requires the inspiration, guidance, support and effort of many people and this work of mine is no different.

First and foremost, I would like to express my grateful and sincere thanks to Prof. V. P. Bharadwaj, Former Head, Department of Economics and Former Director, School of Social Sciences, Gujarat University, Ahmedabad, my guide, for his invaluable inspiration and guidance from conception to completion of this task. I am, indeed, indebted to him for sharpening and shaping all the core ideas incorporated in this work. Prof. Bharadwaj has generously contributed his intellectual prowess, professional expertise and constructive criticism without which this work would have remained an unrealised dream. His relentless and thoughtful questioning was an unfailing input which championed my efforts eventually leading to the successful completion of this work. I will ever remain grateful to his unparalleled inspiration and guidance from time to time.

Dr. Yogesh Pandya, Officiating Principal, Sahajanand Arts and Commerce College, Ahmedabad deserves my special thanks for his understanding and support. My colleagues and friends in my college Prof. P. J. Patel, Prof. M. Ranade, Prof. A. R. Shah, Prof. Nikhil Bhatt, Prof. Digvijay Gohil, Prof. Jignesh, Prof. H. D. Prajapati, Dr. Bhimani and the other staff members have been a constant source of encouragement for which I profoundly thank them. I recall with joy the support and motivation provided by Dr. R. S. Thakur, Former Principal, Sahajanand Arts and Commerce College, Ahmedabad.
I would like to express my heartfelt gratitude to Shri Sudhirbhai Nanavati, Hon. Secretary, GLS, Ahmedabad, Shri N. R. Shah, Executive Director, GLS, Ahmedabad and Prof. M. N. Desai for their support at the initial stage. Special credit is also due to Prof. C. B. Raval, Former Principal H. A. College of Commerce, Ahmedabad and all my former colleagues at H. A. College of Commerce.

I thank Prof. Shivanand Swami, Associate Director, CEPT, Ahmedabad for being incredibly helpful in extending his support by providing relevant input material.

I am happy to mention the assistance rendered by Prof. Anjanaben Vyas, Head, Geomatics Dept., CEPT University for her extraordinary concern and response.

I cannot forget to mention the encouragement provided by Dr. Nimishaben Shukla, Head, Dept. of Economics, Gujarat Vidyapith for which I am grateful to her. A special word of thanks to Prof. Parth Joshi of Uma Arts and Nathiba Mahila Commerce College, Gandhinagar, who has been a loyal and supportive friend throughout this task. I am thankful to him for equipping me with references in the formative stage of my thesis.

Shri Deeraj Kakadia, Jt. Director, Publications Division (GOI), Gujarat deserves my thanks for providing valuable references.

I also thank Prof. Kamal Shukla, H. K. College of Commerce, Dr. Sangeetaben Ghate, Principal, Umiya Arts and Commerce College for Girls, Ahmedabad and Mrs. Mitali Mitra for their inspiration and support.

Special credit is due to all my teachers and friends at University School of Social Sciences, Gujarat University for their encouragement.

I am thankful to Manju Aunty, Mrs. Bharadwaj, for the inspiring environment that she provided during the long hours of discussion with Prof. Bharadwaj. Her constant encouragement along with the invigorating cups of tea helped me to destress myself for which I am grateful to her.

I am equally thankful to Veena Aunty and Dr. M. P. Bhatt, RMO Health Centre, Gujarat University for their blessings and continual concern.

I would like to make a special mention of Dishit, Nirav, Tinu, Aashish, Tomali, Rang, Jay and Ajay who were so generous in their assistance and patience.

I wish to thank Shri Dineshbhai Yadav of Jigar Graphics whose enthusiasm for typing and retyping the drafts encouraged me to chisel each chapter of this thesis.

I will ever remain indebted to Chiragbhai, Jignabhabhi and Sachu for making available relevant material at the very stage of inception, for their continual encouragement and moral support that they provided all the way from Canada.

I express my sincere gratitude to Ms. Manisha Verma, I. I. S., for her creative observations, valuable advice and essential background material that she so heartily made available from time to time during my research work. I am also thankful to Minali Verma and Niraj Shah for their keen interest and requisite assistance.

I take this opportunity to thank Minakshi, my wife, for her overwhelming and endless support in this endeavour of mine.

The last word of acknowledgement delightfully goes to my reverend Guruji, my parents and Minakshi’s parents who have been a perennial source of blessings and moral support. I thank my parents for the support and the caring environment that they have provided during the writing of this thesis.
