REFERENCES

Aberg, B. (1949). Changes in the ascorbic acid content of darkened leaves as influenced by temperature, sucrose application and severing from the plant. Physiol. Plant. 2: 164-183.

——— (1951). The interaction of some auxin antagonists and 2, 4-D in root growth. Ibid. 4: 627.

——— (1952). On the growth regulating effects of some 1-napthyl and 2,4-dichlorophenoxy derivatives without carboxyl groups. Ibid. 5: 567.

and (1961). Role of sucrose in the growth reaction of Avena coleoptile sections. Flora Bd. 150, H.1, S. 1-10.

(1951a). Effect of vernalization and photoperiodic treatments on growth and development of crop plants. II. Varietal differences in stem elongation and tillering of wheat and their correlation with flowering under varying photo-inductive and post photo-inductive treatments. Ibid. 4: 427-436.

(1951b). Effect of vernalization and photoperiodic treatments on growth and development of growth plants. III. Rate of dry matter production, net assimilation rate and water content of wheat under varying photo-inductive and post photo-inductive treatments. Ibid. 4: 575-591.

(1952). Effect of vernalization and photoperiodic treatments on growth and development of crop plants. IV. Uptake of nitrogen, phosphorus, and potassium by wheat plant under varying photo-inductive and post photo-inductive treatments. Ibid. 5: 11-32.

Sawhney, K.L. and ________ (1958). The interrelationship between net assimilation rate, growth and development of wheat as influenced by photoperiodic and vernalization treatments. Symposium on "Recent advances in the study of plant metabolism". Univ. of Allahabad: 98-100.

________. (1938). The effect of light on the accumulation of ascorbic acid in young cowpea plants. Ibid. 25: 701-711.

________. (1941). Relation of vitamin C to cell size in the growing region of the primary root of cowpea seedlings. Ibid. 28: 410-415.

________. (1941b). Relation of temperature to the ascorbic acid content of cowpea plants. Ibid. 68: 510-530.

and __________. (1963a). Studies on the physiology of flowering of Timothy (Phleum pratense L.) II. Influence of day-length and temperature on size of the inflorescence. Ibid. 27: 233.

References marked in asterisk have not been referred to in the original.